Classes Form The Hub of Our Busy Planets

At Shortridge High

Within the rambling three-story structure at 34th and Meridian streets is a small but purposeful universe, revolving around its 2600 students, bustling with activity, laden with enthusiasm and traditional spirit developed in its 90-year history.

Four major planets and numerous smaller ones, each thriving on its own particular purpose and vibrating with its individual personality, comprise a complete system for education—our "Solar System," Shortridge.

The primary hub of our small world is classes, which acquired a new look with the addition of college courses to the curriculum. Vocational and academic subjects provided for fun and enjoyment, and newly painted classrooms made the day more enjoyable.

Repetez!

Varied Courses Brighten a Wide Curriculum,

Approximately 73% of all Shortridge graduates enter college, and many of the remaining face their life's work immediately after graduation. In order to accommodate these pupils and to meet the individual needs of all Shortridgers, our solar system is constantly growing —curriculum-wise, and now offers more than 115 courses a semester.

Modern facilities and teaching methods have enabled many physical changes in our solar system during its 90 years' history. Shortridgers themselves are fundamentally the same, though. They work as well as play, laugh and sometimes cry, and most of all, keep Shortridge alive.

Shop boys discover mystery of the broken fan.

Craft offers fun and opportunity in plastic work.

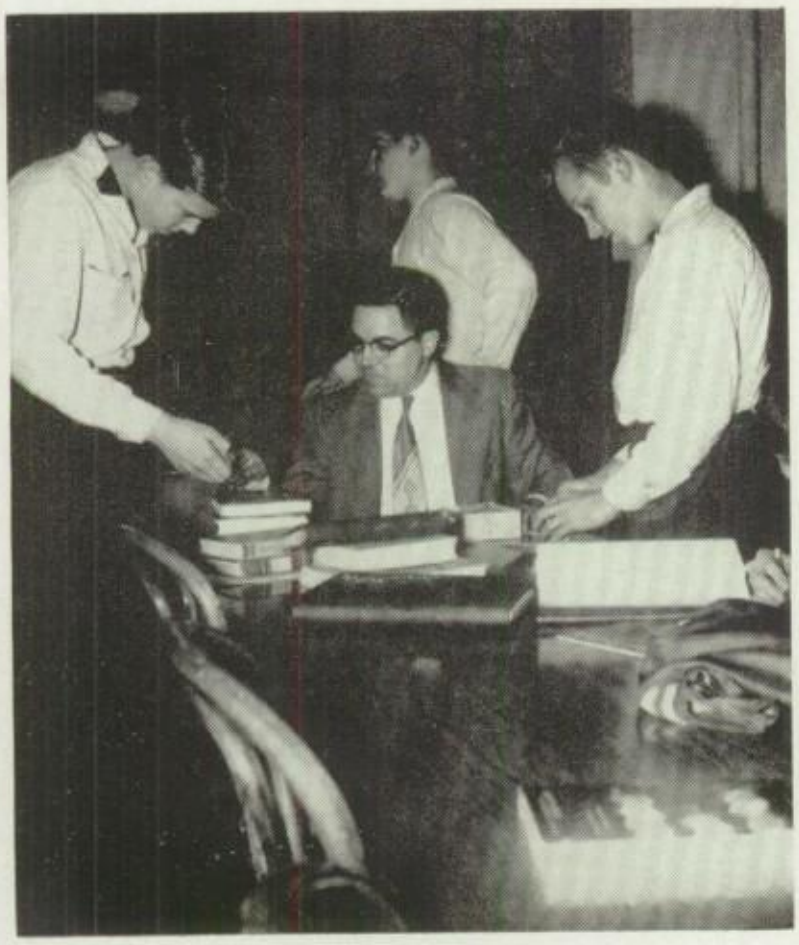
Accommodating Needs of More Than 2600

Classes are geared toward the students themselves, and through proper guidance methods, they develop the individual's abilities to the maximum and train Shortridgers to aim at a goal which they can reach. Whether pupils' interests lie in solving difficult trig problems or chasing butterflies, all are guided to develop their talent to the fullest.

Through modern methods, students not only learn to know themselves better, but also gain experience in understanding their friends and classmates—one of the most important phases of school life.

Quiz Kids Mike Fisch and Dick Ohrn bone up for title bout.

Extra-Curricular Life Is Well Planned



The varied activity planet forms a prominent harbor in Shortridge's universe. At the sound of the 2:30 bell, classes are momentarily forgotten, and students seek the activities of their choice, ranging from painting wastebaskets for the Student Board, or taking part in a Great Books discussion, to riding with the Saddle Club.

Although classes form the hub of its many intricate planets, activities play a vital part in our solar system. Here, we make new friends, and develop our interests; and here, through the determination and interest of many students and teachers, Shortridge traditions are maintained, our school takes a prominent place in community life, and students become better citizens for tomorrow.

What's that stamp?

With a Variety of Interesting Activities

Boosters cheer Satan teams to victory.

Basketball is a popular intramural pastime.

Athletic

Shortridgers, in addition to required physical education courses, are offered a complete intramural program, and eight interscholastic sports.

Boys' intramurals, under the direction of Jerry Steiner and George Gale, are divided into two leagues, freshman-sophomore and junior-senior. Girls elect a chairman for each sport if there is enough interest to conduct a program. Mrs. Mary Treichler and Miss Caryl Gaines sponsor the program.

Interscholastically, Shortridge teams have brought honor to the sports planet the past year.

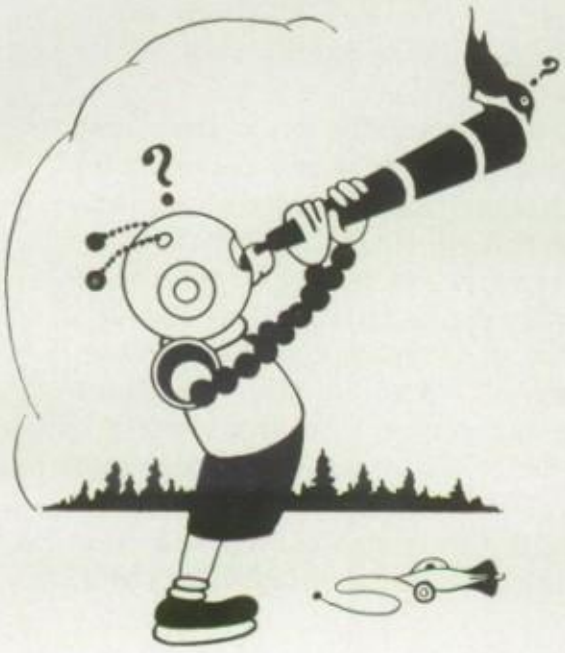
Fun, Fads, Social Functions Will Add Memories

Dirty saddles and white bucks—a proverbial SHS fad.

Friends, fads, fun—a vital part and finishing touch to our solar system. Imbedded in our memories will be morning gabfests before school, chatter at the lunch table, and ever-present fads—dominated by pink and charcoal, which this year included Bermuda shorts and knee socks, saddles and white bucks. All are an added touch yet traditional part, of Shortridge life.



Dig this! Bermuda shorts and knee socks, the popular fashion at games and for "messin' around."

Christmas And Frolic Times Are Highlights

Senior Christmas party time finds Martha Rosenak, Judy Barr, and Denise White adding finishing touches to the tree.

Stepping into the limelight of our memories will be many special events — election days, Christmas time, auditorium sessions, and Frolic time.

Juniors felt a surge of anxiety when they met as a class for the first time and went importantly to the polls to elect their first president. Seniors, apparently used to the routine, also felt a pang of excitement as they chose leaders for one of the most important years in their school careers.

Christmas time brought gaily decorated classrooms, the mystery of "Who is Mr. Christmas Echo" contest, and the senior Christmas party—31st edition—complete with Santa Claus and "goodies" for all.

Frolic time brought the entire family into our universe for a night of fun, enjoyment, and, naturally, work.

Aw, Santa, have a heart!

Living traditions of Shortridge High School make her a dynamic symbol to her students today. With pride, they look upon her accomplishments, ever mindful of the challenge of Caleb Mills, "A disciplined mind and cultivated heart are elements of power."

Such Shortridge traditions as the senior ax, initiated by the class of 1904, and the annual senior popularity contest for Bluebelle and Uglyman are cherished symbols of Shortridge life which will live in grads' hearts for years to come.

Distinguished alumni, whose outstanding success and accomplishments grow fuller each year, provide a constant goal and challenge for Shortridge student, as they look forward to maintaining the noble record of their high school in the future.

Middies to Spacemen Depict 50 Years of Progress

IN MEMORIAM

Gordon O. Johnson

On Wednesday, September 8, came the news of the sudden and untimely death of Gordon O. Johnson, SHS art instructor. With that news came a feeling of great loss to all members of the faculty and the student body, for this man had become close to them in his 24 years of association with the school.

Through Mr. Johnson's hearty enthusiasm for education, adult classes were started and a shop department was developed. From the beginning of his teaching career, he showed amazing ability to interest his pupils in mechanical drawing, handicrafts, and general shop. Mr. Johnson was a man of strong will—strong enough to carry out the projects which he believed useful to the Shortridge curriculum. Through his understanding and patience, his pupils aspired to great achievements, as was proven when many of them ranked high in national competition.

The loss which came with the death of this man always will be felt, and Shortridge long will remember the kindliness, enthusiasm, loyalty, and sincerity of Gordon O. Johnson.

DEDICATION

"When the Senior Council began to consider the person to whom our class would dedicate the 1955 Annual, one name continually stood out from the rest . . ." With these words, the name of Herman H. Siemers was announced.

This dedication expresses only minutely the admiration and respect that each member of the senior class holds for Mr. Siemers. His sense of humor and wealth of knowledge add that special "something" to his physics classes that makes them an outstanding part of any schedule. We have known him not only as a teacher, but a coach, a sponsor, and, most of all, a real friend. He has shown interest in the class activities since the beginning of his 27-year career as physics teacher at SHS, and now has progressed to the position of chief engineer of radio station WIAN-FM.

Your loyalty to Shortridge, Mr. Siemers, and your sincerity in maintaining her high standards have made you outstanding in our minds. You have given freely of your time and unselfishly of your efforts to make our class what it is today. We are proud to dedicate the 1955 Annual to you.

Herman H. Siemers

Principals Coordinate Shortridge Activities

Joel W. Hadley, principal.

At the control panel of the Shortridge space ship is Principal Joel W. Hadley, a real friend to each of his 2,600 crew members. As co-ordinator of all school activities and chief administrator of the general policies of the school, Mr. Hadley does a great job. But through all his regular duties as principal of a large high school he manages to maintain a close relationship with the students.

The achievements of the school and its prestige in the community are due to the hard work of this man; for this, he has earned the respect of teacher and student alike.

Working with Mr. Hadley as co-pilots are Robert L. Green and Claude M. Keesling, vice-principals. It is their job to assist the students and faculty members with problems which may arise concerning schedules, attendance, school regulations, and discipline. Without these two men, much of the progress made by Shortridge in the last few years would not have been realized.

Claude M. Keesling, vice-principal.

Robert L. Green, vice-principal.

Advisers Help Students

Mrs. Eugenia Hayden, dean of girls, could be called the hostess of our space ship, for it is her job to meet and talk with all new students, orient the freshmen, and sponsor many school activities: Girls' League, Student Board, and True Blue Club. The Lost and Found is also located in her office on the first floor.

To help Shortridgers plan their courses of study, choose colleges, and prepare for a vocation are the responsibilities of the guidance department under the direction of Kenneth Peterman, guidance head.

Miss Reeta Clark advises freshmen and oversees scholarships from state schools, while Miss Dorothy Peterson serves as adviser to all those who wish to attend colleges out of the state; Mrs. Annalee Miller is the special counsellor for all those who plan to attend eastern colleges. Lester P. Groth administers all special tests, and Miss Ruth Lewman is in charge of vocational guidance. Miss Rea Bauer, the school social service worker, deals with students who have difficulties in making adjustments to high school and is ready to counsel those who have personal problems. Mrs. Mrs. Nell Thomas and Don Knight sponsor the junior class activities and Miss Dorothy Peterson and Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Siegel are class and finance advisers for the seniors.

To make Shortridgers ready for graduation and to prepare them for the future is the aim of the guidance department.

Row 2: Robert Hirstein, Robert Nipper, Mrs. Elsie Waterman, Mrs. Anna Oertle, Mrs. Kathryn Smith, Harold Negley, Roy Aberson.

HISTORY DEPARTMENT

The future—what will come next? Will we conquer space and link the planets of our solar system? Will we have more wars? What great events in science will take place? None of these questions has full answers as yet, but since history repeats itself, the SHS history department gives a clue to the future. In courses ranging from ancient history to international relations, Shortridgers study about the world, past and present.

Government and problems students in a special class comprehensively review history for college board examinations, while other double period classes visit industries for practical knowledge.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

English, our language, is an essential part of every Shortridger's curriculum. From English I to VI, we learn the basic concepts of our language.

Journalism I and II offer opportunities for fledgling reporters to try out their wings, while journalistic correspondence helps more advanced newsmen write for city papers.

English VII and VIII supply the whole panorama of English literature. Senior English, Composition I, and Advanced Comp, a college preparatory course, are given to seniors.

Dramatics, public speaking, and radio speech teach the Shortridger to express his language effectively.

LANGUAGE FACULTY—Row 1: Miss Emily Dodson, Mrs. Josephine Bliss, Mrs. Elizabeth Helm, Mrs. Grace Vitz, head; Miss Ruth Lewman, Miss Hazel Whisenand. Row 2: Miss Louise Reiter, John Thomson, Mrs. Gertrude Weathers, Mrs. Cena Morgan, Lester Groth, Mrs. Virginia Graham.

MATH FACULTY—Row 1: Mrs. Florence Cunningham, Miss Ellen Ocker, Miss Louise Reiter, Enoch Burton, head; Mrs. Florence Goodnough, Miss Grace Custer. Row 2: Claude Keesling, Ian Laing Bryant Millikan, William Gibson, Don Knight, James Eaves, Robert Green.

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

Since the earth grows smaller every day due to the increased span of transportation, a practical knowledge of French, German, or Spanish is becoming essential. Shortridge students learn to speak these languages in the classroom.

Although Latin is no longer a spoken language, its influences are widely felt since it is background for French, Spanish, and English. Latin students receive an excellent vocabulary and a good English foundation.

Greek, not offered by many schools, is given to advanced Latin students.

Latin and Greek derivatives, a word study course, is offered to juniors and seniors.

MATH DEPARTMENT

"$x + y = 2$," "the sine of $< a = 24°$," "if the hypotenuse of a right triangle"—all these phrases are familiar to students in the Shortridge math department. Here, the future engineers, astronomers, physicists, chemists, and mathematicians of tomorrow get basic training in courses ranging from 9B arithmetic to solid geometry, college algebra, analytical geometry, and trigonometry.

Shortridge mathematics students apply their knowledge to win coveted places in the state math contests and to acquire top scores on scholarship tests and college board examinations. Above all, math courses teach students how to reason logically.

PHYSICAL SCIENCE FACULTY—Row 1: Mrs. Henrietta Parker, Robert Grubbs, chairman; H. H. Siemers. Row 2: Ian Laing, Lincoln Stearley, James Rodeheffer.

PHYSICAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Do cosmic rays intrigue you? Would you like to know more about the atom? What is a nucleus? Chemistry students find the answers to these questions and many others ranging from the reason that fudge hardens to the method for finding the simplest possible formula of a compound.

The motion of the universe is one of the topics covered by physics students. They also delve into the secrets of a prism, light waves, heat, motion, gravity.

These sciences and electronics have laboratory periods when students prove certain fundamental laws by experimentation.

NATURAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Between the fun of naming skeletons and chasing bugs with nets, Shortridge biology students learn more about living organisms and the functions of the body.

While botany students study the structure of flowers, geology pupils tap rocks and learn the difference between sedimentary rocks and volcanic lava.

Zoology students learn about the biology of animals; physiology classes chart the functions of the body. Physiography explains the development of the earth's surface through the ages. Psychology students analyze their friends to discover what kind of minds they possess.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

Sewing classes learn how to fashion clothes in every style ranging from the Dior look to the Shortridge look of skirts and blouses and from every material—everyday cottons to glittering formal fabrics.

The delicious odors of cookies, cakes, and other delicious foods which drift through the halls are products of the cooking classes. The girls learn practical aspects of the kitchen which include cleaning up their dishes.

Home living is another important subject offered to girls to further family relationships.

Subjects offered by the home economics department are the nucleus for future housewives and mothers.

ART DEPARTMENT

Abstract art, cubism, commercial art, fashion illustration, mechanical drawing, painting, shop, figure drawing—take your pick. All these courses provide a chance for creative self-expression. Shortridgers take many honors in the Scholastic Art Awards and other national, state and city-wide contests, as well as finding many opportunities around Shortridge for poster work or other art work.

The members of the arts and crafts department can practically build a house and then furnish it piece by piece. Shop classes find a creative outlet in making useful pieces of furniture. Crafts students create lamps, paper weights, clocks, and many other useful articles from plastic.

ART FACULTY—Row 1: Charles Yeager, head; Mrs. Elizabeth Houck, Miss Jane Messick, Miss Doris Willoughby. Row 2: Robert Pursley, Orrin Thundere, Woodard Auble, William Amthor, Paul Justice.

COMMERCE DEPARTMENT

Almost faster than the speed of light, Shortridge typists move their fingers across the typewriter keys. As they become more advanced, these typing students can learn the hieroglyphics of shorthand, too.

Of course there are many other phases of business besides typing, and Shortridgers are offered many of these courses. Machine calculation and business arithmetic teach the elements of computation for commerce. Retail problems and business law are two courses for the prospective business man.

No matter what the course in the commerce department, the student will gain practical business knowledge which will prepare him for his career.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

"Strike up the band!" might be the theme song for the Shortridge band directed by James B. Calvert as it plays at the football games and for school auditoriums. Girls have joined the band for concerts, but only boys march.

The Shortridge orchestra under the direction of Will F. Wise appears with the senior play and gives two auditoriums.

The many singing groups at Shortridge include the Girls' Concert Choir, the A Cappella Choir, Madrigal Singers, and the Training Choir. The choirs present programs all over the state.

Other courses offered Shortridge musicians are harmony and music appreciation; truly the music department can say, "Let all our lives be music."

MUSIC FACULTY—Seated: Miss Jane Hampson, Will Wise. Standing: James Calvert, Don Martin.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

1-2-3-4, the physical education classes are exercising again. Girls and boys learn muscular coordination and build better health through simple exercise.

The athletics department, in addition to the full interscholastic athletic program of football, track, cross-country, golf, tennis, basketball, wrestling, and baseball, has a complete intramural sports schedule. Girls, too, participate in girls' intramural sports.

Health and safety, alcohol and narcotics, and driver training all are part of a system designed to educate Shortridgers in the principles of healthful living, first aid, and safe, courteous driving methods. These courses build better citizens.

OFFICE STAFF—Mrs. Ruth Davis, Mrs. Elizabeth Trott, Mrs. Natalia Conner.

OFFICE STAFF

Twenty-six hundred Shortridgers mean a lot of bookkeeping. There are report cards, attendance records, subject records, medical emergency records—all of which the office staff must keep ready for immediate reference.

Miss Ula Wright heads this group of busy "white-collar girls." Miss Fern Warren, registrar, sees that Shortridge seniors interested in college receive applications for admission. Mrs. Elizabeth Trott serves as secretary to Mr. Hadley. Mrs. Charlotte Hansen does varied jobs in the office.

Mrs. Natalia Conner and Mrs. Ruth Davis are at the attendance desk to mark the Shortridge traffic, as hundreds of SHSers come to them daily.

THESPIAN

On the air! Shortridgers spend many hours of preparation on WIAN-FM broadcasts.

Station WIAN, a Public Schools' First

David Cartee and Tom Freeman make last-minute program plans with Miss Moodey and Mr. Carder.

Shortridge takes to the air!

Yes, our school has taken to the air—that is, broadcast on the radio waves. Five days a week, for at least an hour a day, the Shortridge radio station WIAN-FM transmits at 90.1 Meg. Newscasts, sports roundups, music programs, and specialized productions by the departments and extra-curricular activities are planned, written, and produced for listeners by high school students.

How did Shortridge become the site of the Indianapolis Public Schools Radio Station?

Well, the first step was interest. For many years Shortridge has had a radio room and students interested in radio production. Radio Workshop members have congregated around Room 344 testing, recording, listening, improving, and dreaming about the day when they would broadcast a live show to a listening audience.

The next step, funds, rested with the Shortridge Parent-Teacher Association. They approved the plan to buy transmitting equipment and raised funds for this project. The equipment was purchased from radio station WASK in Lafayette.

Finds Its Home in Shortridge Life

The final problems of installation and organization were assumed by the faculty and students. Herman H. Siemers, chief engineer of WIAN, worked many summer vacation hours before he completely installed the 3,000-watt station. Then, Alwyn Carder and Miss Mary Moodey had to organize interested students and help them select and direct appropriate programs which the students would write and produce.

At least ten hours of hard work are behind every thirty minutes of actual broadcasting. Thus, WIAN became the fourth radio station in a high school in Indiana.

The station paraded its talent at the Family Frolic and presented many special Christmas programs. Those included in the weekly scheduled programs are School News, Sports Roundup, Books That Live, and Jazz Review. The disc spinners choose their records from the Shortridge record library which boasts everything from popular to classical.

Most of the participating students are either in radio classes or are members of radio workshop or the Echo staff.

Many Comprise

The night may have a thousand eyes but so do the reporters of the Shortridge Daily Echo who also have a thousand ears. These busy journalists correlate all the news of our interplanetary worlds.

Essential to the newspaper are its editors, those ambidextrous administrators who try to do everything at once just before their day's paper goes to press. This year Betty Long, Wallace Terry, Sue Tarr, Penny Sanford and Kay Lavelle, co-editors; and Suzie Mitten and Barbara Szatkowski, co-editors, carry out these duties Monday through Friday. Assignment editors are Margie Weston, Liz Kahlo, Mike Hittle, Paula Gay Langman, and Judy Paller. Paul Mode fills a new position—that of head of the sports staff.

Daily Echo Staffs

The editors of the Christmas Echo were Betty Long and Sue Tarr. Long before other Shortridgers' thoughts had turned to Christmas shopping and snow, Betty and Sue were working on this magazine filled with contributions of the Fiction Club and other Shortridgers. Judy Paller and Margie Weston planned the Christmas Echo's publicity and auditorium. To promote it, they staged a guessing contest, "Who Is Mr. Christmas Echo?" At the auditorium, Mr. Hilliker was the stellar mystery man.

Focusing their sights on the outside universe of Indianapolis, correspondents Claudia Danson and Ann Alpert to the Northside Topics, Sally Mitten and Ralph Cohen to the Indianapolis Star, Judy Paller and Dick Ohrn to the Indianapolis Times, and Sue Tarr and Howard Rader to the Indianapolis News, contributed SHS news to the city papers.

Clustered about Julie Snyder, business manager, are her business staffs. Shortridge advertisers sparking ads for Block's and Strauss are Tom Barney and Carol Campbell, Block's; and Gary Hanna and Roberta Hess, Strauss. Mailing the Echo to its galaxy of subscribers are Esther Adelman, Delmar Bramlet, Alice Guyness, Sue Hensler, Dan Leightman, Marilyn Norris, Sue Reynolds, Doretta Simms, Judy Springer, and Phil Williams.

The Echo's efficient circulation radiates from Claudia Danson, Thalia Hosea, Nancy Mitchell, Kelly Morris, and Judith O'Connor. Handy with scissors, Tobe Appleblatt and Harriet Glanzman kept the clipping file up to date.

Echo reporters and editors also relayed SHS news over Shortridge's radio station WIAN-FM.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

An all-girl auditorium was on this year's Girls' League agenda. Mei Chen, president, led the other officers, Carolyn Keesling, secretary; and Sue Tarr, vice president; through a very active year.

The league held a freshman orientation reception in the Charity Dye Library and directed a Newcomers' Party to acquaint new students with Shortridge. They sold pennant pins which boosted support for our athletic teams, and they continued the program of selling Shortridge stationery.

This year's biggest goal was to buy a new mirror for the girls' washroom and to put into effect the rules, which they drew up, for considerate, orderly conduct within the washrooms.

Annually the Girls' League makes nominations for the Honor Sponsors of ROTC.

Mrs. Eugenia Hayden, the dean of girls, sponsors this service group.

THE KEY CLUB

"Buy your last ticket here!"

"Go to the ball game!"

One of the largest projects of the Key Club is selling tickets to athletic contests. With their enthusiasm and salesmanship, they have appreciably boosted the school's spirit. Also, as one of the most active service organizations in Shortridge, the group distributes tuberculosis posters throughout Marion County, operates and decorates booths for the Family Frolic, organizes the Christmas decorations for the school's entrance, ushers at many school functions, and promotes an annual Hard Times dance in the spring.

The Key Club is composed of 24 seniors, 16 juniors, and eight sophomores. The officers for 1954-55 are Don Screes, president; Jim Loer, vice president; Frank Mead, secretary; and Moe Silverman, treasurer. Jerry Steiner is sponsor of the Key Club.

THE STUDENT BOARD

"Watch your manners!"

"Follow the safety rules!"

The Shortridge Student Board directs improvement campaigns which have included "Better Sportsmanship" and "Keep Your School Clean." This year's group anticipates the approval of an annual school-wide spelling bee to be sponsored by the Student Board, which would stimulate better study habits.

As part of its crowded schedule, the Board directs two freshman mixers, arranges the Bluebelle-Uglyman dance and football dances, decorates the Christmas tree, operates Coca-Cola and Fruit-O-Matic machines in the cafeteria, and represents the student body when the administration seeks student suggestions.

The officers for this year are Gary Hanna, president; Mary Ochsner, vice president; Carol Campbell, corresponding secretary; Linda Lowe, recording secretary; and John Hollett and Frank Mead, treasurers. Mrs. Eugenia Hayden, Shortridge dean of girls, sponsors the group.

Row 5: George Jenkins, Gary Hanna, John Hollett, Don Screes, Frank Skinner, Pat Genovese, Dave Price, Merwyn Studor, Pat McConahay.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB

Much significant progress has been accomplished in the Lettermen's Club this year. Formerly an honorary organization for all letter winners, it has developed into an active club dedicated to the purpose of furthering athletics at Shortridge, cultivating high standards of citizenship among athletes, guiding them in leadership, and setting a good example. An athletic council has been formed this year, composed of one representative from each sport to further their special interests.

The club as a whole sponsored the annual Lettermen-Faculty game, held its own scholarship fund for a deserving athlete, and supported the Athletic Development Fund.

Roy Aberson is the faculty sponsor; officers are Steve Wright, president; Hobby Wilson, vice president, and Moe Silverman, secretary-treasurer.

FRESHMAN AND SENIOR BOOSTER CLUBS

"Yea! Rah! Blue Devils!"

Such can be heard coming from the two peppiest clubs in the school, the Freshman and Senior Boosters.

The Senior Booster Club, led by Linda Lowe, president; Amy Lou Ponton, corresponding secretary; Peggy Perry and Cindy Grant, attendance secretaries; and Steve Wright, treasurer; exists to maintain constant support and stimulate greater interest in all athletic endeavors, and is open to support-conscious students in the upactivities of the group.

The Freshman Booster Club is a junior edition of the senior group, and has raised attendance tremendously at freshman games. Officers are Lynn Bolles, president; Nancy Varnes, vice president; Kay Browning, secretary; and Barbara Donahue, treasurer.

FRESHMEN BOOSTER COMMITTEE—Nancy Varnes, Lynn Bolles, Barbara Donahue, and Kay Browning.

THE PAN AMERICAN CLUB

Ole! Ole for the Pan American Club which provides Spanish-flavored entertainment for its large membership.

This year's officers, Joan Esterline, president; Barbara Murphy, vice president; Jane Swanson, secretary; Barbara Haupt, treasurer, work cooperatively with a representative from each class to plan and direct various committees. These groups conscientiously do their part to make each meeting an outstanding incident in the agenda of the school year.

The enthusiastic sponsors, Mrs. Virginia Graham, Mrs. Cena Morgan, and Miss Hazel Whisenand, often refer to their first-hand knowledge of our Spanish-speaking neighbors to add color and authenticity to the entertainment.

Gav music. colored films, informative panel discussions, and interesting speakers highlight the varied meetings.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

"La seance est auverte." Thus Martha Lasky, president of the 1954-'55 Cercle Francais, calls their bi-monthly meetings to order. She and the other officers, Sylvia Shapiro, vice president; Elaine Brodey, secretary; and Diana Arvin, treasurer; under the imaginative sponsorship of Mrs. Gertrude Weathers, strive for variety which will stimulate the students' interest in France and French culture.

Mrs. Weathers prefers for the members to participate in the program. Therefore entertainment is usually highlighted by short skits in French, knowledge and interest contests, and personality games.

To obtain membership in Le Cercle Francais the student must maintain a C average in French and memorize "La Marseillaise," the French national anthem.

Both the minutes and program are presented in French.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS—Row 1: Nancy Millholland, Mei Chen, Minnie Campbell, Anita Sargent, Dede Dailey, Nina Simmons, Nancy Mentendiek. Row 2: Thalia Hosea, Diana Arvin, treas.; Martha Lasky, pres.; Elizabeth Davis, Suzy Underwood, Sue Strickland. Row 3: Mrs. Gertrude Weathers, Phoebe Senour, Sara Samson, Mary Lu Hering, Nancy Shumaker, Ree Rice, Liz Kahlo, Jody Foster, Charity Paul, Keren Call, Sharon Maurer, Elaine Brodey, Paul Mode. Row 4: Margie Weston, Judy Barr, Nancy Bever, Helen Cooper, Stephen Cooper, Ed Kahn, Ralph Cohen, Bob Koor, Mike Fisch.

OVERSEAS CLUB—Row 1: Juris Caune, Nina Simmons, Valda Irbe, Margarita Boschenko, Yautra Krumkalns, Anna Apostolakis. Row 2: Atis Makstenieks, Modris Lakstins, Helmuts Murmanis, Ausma Grunts, Elizabeth Ziegler, Ilse Carter, Miss Margaret Montgomery, Irene Apostolakis.

THE OVERSEAS CLUB

A few years ago Miss Margaret Montgomery realized that the foreign-born students needed a club which would help them exchange the philosophies and ideas which they gained from their former background. Under her sponsorship the Overseas club has grown to be one of the most active extra-curricular activities.

Currently, there are twelve countries represented. They are Australia, China, England, France, Germany, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Latvia, South America, and Ukrania. Officers are Helmuts Murmanis, president; Nina Simmons, vice president; Elaine Soulias, secretary; and Irene and Anna Apostolakis, program chairmen.

SPQR

The SPQR joins newer Latin students with the more advanced in an effort to stimulate interest in yesterday's language and its effects upon today.

The group annually holds five meetings, three in the fall semester and two in the spring. This year the group again sponsored a project. The money obtained from these yearly projects is used to send delegates to local, state, and national conventions.

The 1954-55 officers are Joan Esterline, president; Jon Birge, vice president; Jody Foster, secretary; and Vedder Brocker, treasurer.

Miss Emily Dodson is sponsor of the SPQR.

S.P.Q.R. OFFICERS—Vedder Brocker, treasurer; Jon Birge, vice president; Jody Foster, secretary, and Joan Esterline, president.

GERMAN CLUB

"Haben Sie von dem Deutschen Verein in Shortridge High School gehoert?"

The above words, when translated, mean the following: "Have you heard about the German Club of Shortridge High School?" and every alert member of Shortridge has. The German Club has donated gifts to the Altenheim (old folks' home) and baked cookies for the Service Men's center. Also, the club annually contributes its services to the Family Frolic.

The president of the 1954-'55 group, Dave Snyder, led the other officers, Brent Moore, vice president, and Judy Earl, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Louise Reiter sponsors this group.

SCIENCE CLUB

What is rust?

What are the properties of liquid oxygen?

The members of the Shortridge Science club enjoy the answers to these and many other scientific questions at their bi-monthly meetings. Anyone interested in any phase of the physical sciences is invited to attend their program.

This year they visited the Powerama and attended the Junior Academy of Science. The club's vice president, Bob Conway, was elected president of the statewide organization.

The other officers are Judy Troyer, president, and Peggy Blackwell, Echo correspondent.

James Rodeheffer sponsors the club.

NATURALISTS' CLUB

Anyone interested in the natural sciences is eligible to join the Naturalists' Club on their excursions into the wilds of the Indiana forests. They also hear speakers, discussions, and frequently show exhibits and demonstrations. This agenda develops and improves one's interest and appreciation in his surroundings.

Mei Chen, president; Lewis Nading, vice president; Ann Egbert, secretary; and Frank Chase, treasurer; preside at the bi-monthly meetings under the friendly guidance of Max Forsyth, the club's sponsor.

The highlight of the year was the trip to Purdue for the 1954-55 Junior Academy of Science.

ASTRONOMY CLUB

What star were you born beneath?

How does the arrangement of the stars differ with the varying seasons?

If any of the preceding questions have aroused your curiosity you would derive satisfaction from participation in the Astronomy club.

This group studies the positions and influences of the heavenly bodies. One finds the importance of the North Star, the Big Dipper, the Square of Pegasus, and the Southern Cross.

Officers for 1954-'55 are Tom Potter, president; John Gilliom, vice president; and Donna Liebold, secretary-treasurer. Ian Laing sponsors the group.

ASTRONOMY CLUB—Row 1: Ian Laing, Georgianne Adams, Darlene Melcon, Donna Leibold. Row 2: Tom Potter, Jim Copeland, Jack Kitzmiller, Bill Fowler, John Gilliom, Steve Peters, Wally Terry.

HI-PI CLUB

"I just can't shoo them out!"

Such is the lament of Miss Ellen Ocker, the sponsor of the Hi-Pi. Members become so engrossed in various mathematical games, puzzles, and problems, that their meetings often run far into the afternoon. High morale and enthusiasm reign this year, the club having the largest membership in its history.

The Hi-Pi is for students in mathematics up to and including Geometry I, after which they are eligible to join the Math Club. Here, the attractive side of mathematics is presented, and interest is developed and stimulated, with several trips and parties included, too.

Officers are Josephine Gray, president; Robert Howell, vice president; Brent Moore, corresponding secretary; Sara Gerlach, recording secretary, and Fred Alkire, treasurer.

MATH CLUB

To encourage a lighter approach to the study of mathematics, to stimulate further study beyond the classroom, and just to provide an opportunity to tinker with equations, problems, and theorems is the purpose of the Math Club. They mix in quite a lot of fun to go along, however, holding an annual Christmas party, a joint spring picnic with the Hi-Pi, and excursions to the Butler Planetarium and Allison's Powerama

The club is led by Judy Hine, president; Toni Aberson, vice president; Suzy Underwood, corresponding secretary; Roberta Hess, recording secretary; Thomas Wurtz, treasurer; and is sponsored by Miss Ellen Ocker. Membership is achieved by submitting a thesis on a mathematical phase or through the Hi-Pi.

STAMP AND COIN CLUB

If you should see a group of students poring over a stack of large albums, and babbling in a seeming incoherent tongue, you know that a meeting of the Shortridge Stamp and Coin Club is in progress!

This club fosters the hobbies of stamp and coin collecting among Shortridge students. It offers the aesthetic, educational, and investment values of the hobbies, besides being creative and interesting to the student to swap and exhibit stamps.

The club sponsors an exhibit at the Family Frolic, and also has a Christmas party with the Library Club each year. Officers are Charles Ellsworth, president; Robert Fletcher, vice president; Charles Rust, treasurer; Marie Dun, secretary; and is sponsored by Arthur G. Shull.

AMATEUR RADIO CLUB

The Amateur Radio Club finished its second year of existence at Shortridge this year, and showed considerable progress. The club's big project of the year was the undertaking of the establishment of a club station, with club members building the transmitter and receiver, and obtaining the license. Three members of the club are fullfledged "hams," and the rest are working on their operators' licenses.

The club is open to anyone interested in radio technology, and seeks to cultivate an interest in the workings of amateur radio. H. H. Siemers is the faculty sponsor, and club officers are John Gilliom, chairman, and Gary Zeck, publicity chairman.

AMATEUR RADIO CLUB—Row 1: Gary Zeck, Gene Brown, Burton Siegel, John Gilliom. Row 2: Gordon Levi, H. H. Siemers, Danny Larner, Tony Hall, Oliver Daugherty.

HI-Y CLUB

The Hi-Y Club is a local chapter of an international organization sponsored by the YMCA, with the purpose "to create, maintain, and extend high standards of Christian character."

Led by Robert Newburn, president; Wallace Terry, vice president; Michael Warwick, secretary; William McFadden, treasurer; and James Lucas, chaplain, the club sponsors many service projects to the school and community. This year the club had several well-known speakers, discussions, an impressive dedication and initiation ceremony, a father and son banquet, attended conferences at Flat Rock Camp, Evansville, and Zionsville, donated a bulletin board to the school, and sponsored four countries in the Model UN General Assembly. Paul Justice is sponsor.

SADDLE CLUB

"Giddyap there, Paint!"

This could be heard at any typical meeting of the Saddle Club, which features actual riding experience, speakers, movies, trips to horse farms, and sojourns to nearby stables as part of its activities.

The club is led by a livewire group of horse enthusiasts: Sarah Zimmerman, president; Sandra White, vice president; Jenny Warren, secretary-treasurer; and Dick Hitchcock, program chairman. In addition, the club has a new sponsor, Miss Nancy Hendricks.

The club undertook many projects this year, one of which was their square dance with Max Forsyth, a professional caller, instructing the riding enthusiasts and their guests.

Y-TEENS

This year was the 100th anniversary of the YWCA, the Young Women's Christian Association, a group with world-wide affiliations which strives to promote cooperation and Christian fellowship among women of all nationalities and races.

The Shortridge High School Chapter, which is responsible to the Indianapolis Office, worked hand in hand with the other chapters throughout the city on a potato-chip drive to raise money for the YWCA in its birthday year.

Our versatile organization also sponsored a "Get Acquainted" party for all freshman girls and helped sponsor the city-wide Hobo Hop.

Sharon Smith led the club, assisted by Judy Crooks, vice president; Sharon Jahr, secretary; Judy Cork, treasurer, and Kathy Faith, publicity chairman. Mrs. Gladys Brewer is the sponsor.

SHORTRIDGE SENATE

The Shortridge Senate, organized in 1887, is the oldest extracurricular activity in Shortridge High School.

The procedure at its weekly meetings is directly copied from that of our United States Senate. Each member assumes the name of a regular senator.

Every Friday interesting, instructive, and sometimes heated arguments are heard as our senators proceed to discuss, dissect, and vote upon bills which supposedly have passed the house.

The club has felt that each member should have the experience and responsibility of holding an important club office; therefore elections are held the first Friday after every report card. The offices are president, vice president, secretary, vice secretary, and reading clerk.

Mrs. Annalee Webb Miller sponsors the group.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Dedicated to upholding high standards of good journalism, the Al J. Kettler chapter of this international honorary organization for outstanding journalists again moved through another successful year, holding a Christmas party, an initiation for new members, joint meetings with other chapters, having several well-known speakers, and selling chrysanthemums and beanies. Last spring Mrs. Al J. Kettler was initiated as an honorary member of the club.

Standards for membership are high, requiring outstanding character, high scholastic standing, 350 inches of printed material, and an active interest in journalism.

Officers are Sue Tarr, president; Sara Mitten, vice-president; Penny Sanford, secretary; Wallace Terry, treasurer; and sponsors are Miss Jeannette Grubb and Mrs. Doris Elkins.

FICTION CLUB

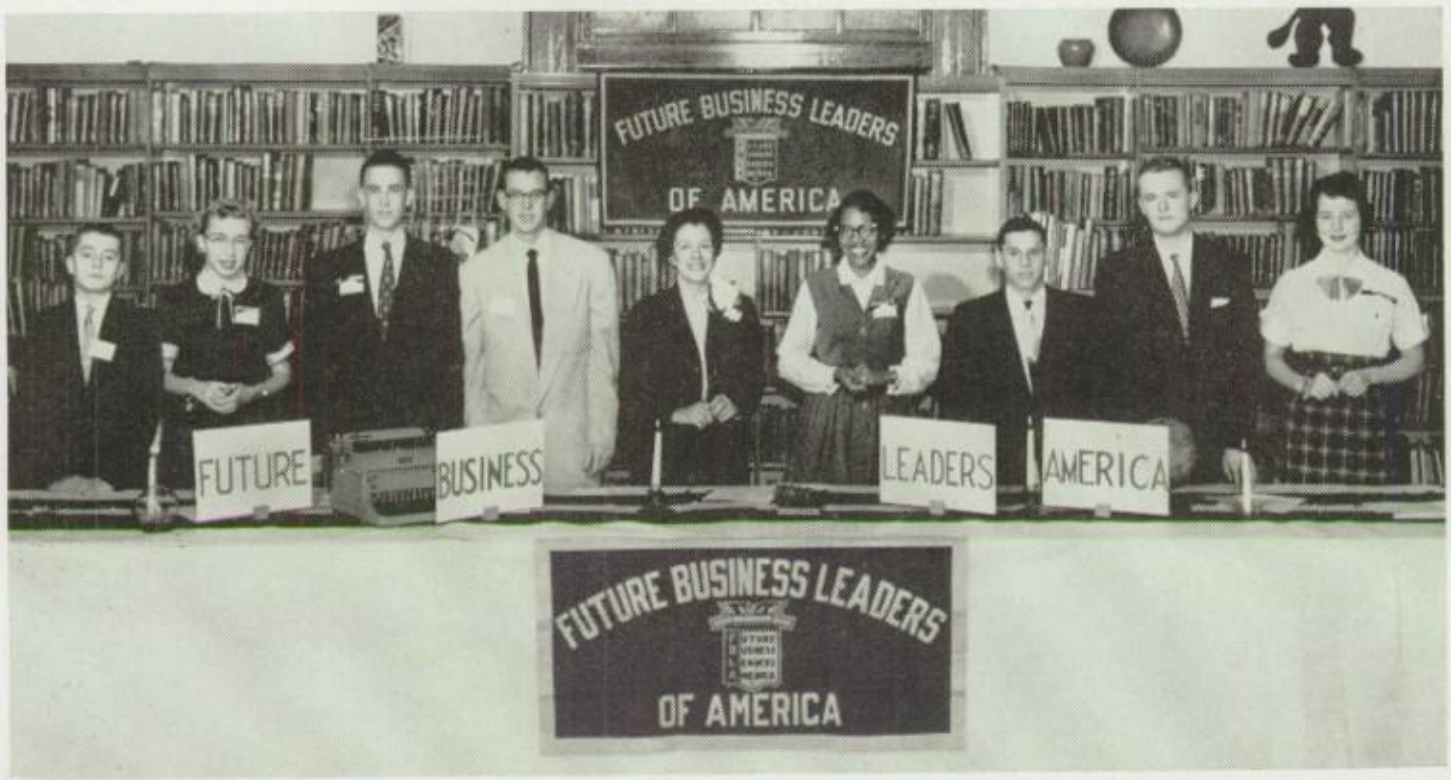
The Fiction Club moved through another successful year—one filled with activities both literary and social. The club strives to create and develop interest in literature and creative writing and to stimulate other cultural achievements.

Many activities filled the year: informal parties, attendance at several plays, speakers, and a gala Christmas party kept the club moving, not to speak of the annual assignment of writing for the Christmas Echo.

The club is led by Toni Aberson, president; Marjorie Weston, vice president; Anita Sargent, secretary; and Steve Close, treasurer. Faculty sponsor is Miss Ruth Armstrong.

Membership in the club is on a highly competitive basis; recommended English students submit short stories to be judged by club officers and advanced composition teachers.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA—Row 1: Sharon Maurer, Carolyn McCorkle, Betty Leftkovits, Elaine Kroot, Roberta Goldstein, Elaine Efroymson, Karen Strand. Row 2: Elissa Lischin, Judy Springer, Sue Mardis, Sara Samson, Donna Leibold, Judy Hine, Sharon Cross, Carolyn Strauss, Cynny Ostrom, Carolyn Brown, Nancy Dean.



FBLA OFFICERS—Doug Sherow, Sue Ann Durgan, Vedder Brocker, Howard Waits, Mrs. Alma Christopher, Minnie Campbell, Melvyn Goldstein, Kenyon Blocker, and Sylvia Harris.

FTA CLUB

The Shortridge chapter of the Future Teachers of America serves to stimulate interest in teaching and is open to any student interested in that profession. This year the club proudly boasts of its first male members in several years.

Members of the club are eligible for credited cadet teaching in grade schools, and, for the first time, in high schools. Also speakers were invited for various branches of teaching, and a trip was made to the School for the Blind. On the social side, a Christmas party and the traditional party for seniors was held.

Officers of the club, which meets once a month, are Judy Hine, president; Susie Strickland, vice president; Judy Springer, secretary; Jean Isenberg, treasurer; Cynthia Ostrom, historian; and the faculty sponsor is Miss Alice Jane Hessler.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA

This club, formerly the Business Eds and Coeds, made a great step forward by being installed as a state and national chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America in an impressive joint meeting with Lawrence Central.

The organization is sponsored by Mrs. Alma Christopher; the chapter officers are Howard Waits, president; Vedder Brocker, first vice president; Sue Ann Durgan, second vice president; Minnie Campbell, secretary; Melvyn Goldstein, treasurer; Sylvia Harris and Doug Sherow, reporters; and Kenyon Blocher, historian. A board of thirty students functions in a governmental capacity.

The one hundred and two regular members keep active, having speakers, a Christmas party, a big part in the Family Frolic, and their traditional collection of toys for Riley Hospital.

CHESS CLUB

The Chess Club joins those students who are interested and accomplished in chess in a competitive team which represents Shortridge. Many tournaments were played before the team and alternates were chosen. The students finally chosen this year were Dick Ohrn, first board; Mike Fisch, second board; Wendell Lutes, third board; David Biggs, fourth board; Harold Albert, fifth board; Ted Boehm, sixth board; Atis Makstenieks, seventh board; Ralph Levitt, eighth board; Arthur Rosenbaum, ninth board; and Mike Goodman, tenth board.

Sponsor of the Chess Club is Enoch Burton, head of the math department.

QUIZ 'EM TEAM

Along with Shortridge's achievement in the field of athletics, great success also has been attained by another team, Quiz 'Em. "Quiz 'Em on the Air" is a tourney contest among 26 city, county, and parochial schools and consists of questions dealing with current news. The program is sponsored by WIRE. Last year Shortridge was the winner of the "Lamp of Learning" trophy. This year they are runners-up to Warren Central in a tense overtime meet, after having won over Decatur Central, Broad Ripple, Lawrence Central, and Howe. Team members are Mike Fisch and Dick Ohrn, co-captains; Larry Silver, Stephen Cooper, and Barbara Haupt, alternate. Mrs. Madge Temperley sponsors the group, which is chosen from student applicants on the basis of a test, ability, and interest.

QUIZ 'EM TEAM—Seated: Mrs. Temperley, Dick Ohrn; standing: Mike Fisch, Stephen Cooper, Larry Silver.

GREAT BOOKS CLUB

Care to engage in a lively discussion of Homer's Iliad or Thucydides' History? Then the Great Books Club is the place where, every two weeks, members discuss great works of the past, led by a different faculty member each time.

This club, one of Shortridge's newest, was created to fill a need for some way of encouraging classical study and discussion, and furthering a student's intellectual foundation. It is sponsored by Miss Mildred Foster, and the officers are Toni Aberson, president; and Wallace Terry, secretary.

In addition to the above books, the club also discussed Toynbee's Civilization on Trial, Lucretius' De Rerum Natura, Shakespeare's King Lear, and Plato's Republic. A weekly program on WIAN-FM was also given by the members.

CROQUIS CLUB

Interested in furthering your knowledge of art beyond the classroom? Then the Croquis Club is just for you. Croquis is a French word meaning "sketch," and the club exists to encourage the student to appreciate art more fully and supplement his knowledge in many phases of art. The club offers a definite challenge to every student to apply his newly learned intelligence to the real thing and form a definite perspective toward art.

The club is sponsored by Miss Jane Messick; officers are David Campbell, president; Judith Taylor, vice president; Elizabeth Rhodes, secretary-treasurer; and Judith Rayburn, program chairman.

DOCENTS—Row 1: Lynn Stemle, Jerry Dickey, Lanny Allen. Row 2: Modris Lakstins, Gary Dorman, Nicki Smith, Lorna Sunman, Miss Willoughby, cadet teacher; Charles Yeager, sponsor.

DOCENTS CLUB

The word "Docent" means "Gallery Worker," and that aptly describes the doings of this comparatively new club, in its second year.

The club is comprised of students interested in working in and taking care of the Roda Selleck Art Gallery. They become familiar with gallery practices and learn much about techniques of art display.

This year, the club put on several displays of "Test Your Taste," set up two or three different showings of pictures a month, and in general, aided the art department in every way possible.

Charles G. Yeager is sponsor; officers are Nicki Smith, president; Lorna Kay Sunman, vice president; and Gary Dorman, treasurer.

LIBRARY CLUB

"Can you tell me where to find a book to help me in my special report?"

Library Club members make a practice of answering questions like that. The club is composed of all library assistants, and is headed by Elizabeth Ann Copeland, president; Linda Orth, vice president; Jane Dongus, secretary; and Carol Milner, treasurer. Mrs. Esther Cavanagh is faculty sponsor.

Because the members work at different times throughout the day, several parties are held to acquaint the members with each other. Annual parties held are the Halloween party, Christmas party, Valentine tea, and spring picnic. Members of the club write book reports for the Echo, and sponsor a radio program.

TRUE BLUE CLUB—Row 1: Claudia Danson, Ellen Montgomery, Elaine Soulias, Judy Lamb, Susan Pedigo. Row 2: Kitty Rose, Carolyn Brown, Mrs. Eugenia Hayden, Peggy Blackwell, Royale Crull, Judy Funk.

TRUE BLUE CLUB

Want anything done, from planning a party to sewing a hem? Just go to the office of the dean of girls and ask for the nearest True Blue Club member.

The True Blue Club is composed of girls willing to serve the school and giving a period of their time each day to work in the dean of girls' office. Members perform many services, such as helping new students get acquainted, freshman orientation, guiding eighth grade tours, doing clerical work and errand running, keeping the Lost and Found department, helping with all Girls' League activities, and assisting the Student Board on many occasions.

The club, sponsored by Mrs. Eugenia Hayden, elects no officers, and holds an annual tea party.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

This club no doubt would win the title of Shortridge's busiest club "hands down." Just look at what they have done: packed gift boxes for overseas, collected $167.00 in their annual enrollment drive, made party boxes for the Veterans' Hospital, made correspondence albums to send to foreign countries, and won the honor of being selected from all Marion County clubs to dress an American doll which was sent to India for a permanent exhibit!

Judy Hine is president of the club, and also is chairman of the International Acts and Correspondence Committee; Andi Bleeker, Georgianna Boxell, and Kathy Crawford are delegates to the council. Faculty sponsor is Mrs. Cena Morgan.

DISCUSSION CLUB

How about a livewire discussion of whether communism should be outlawed in the United States, or a fast rundown on the T.V.A.? The Discussion Club is open to anyone interested in discussing current problems. Students learn to think critically, analyze intelligently, and appraise constructively and judge current news.

Every year the club sends two members to the regional forensic contest, and, if successful, to the state contest. Seven times in the last eight years, Shortridge pupils have finished in the finals of the state contest. Also, four Town Meetings of the Air were presented this year, and one, on the question of outlawing communism, was hailed as the best ever.

The faculty sponsor is Mrs. Madge Temperley.

NATIONAL THESPIAN SOCIETY

Give their regards to Broadway!

The Shortridge chapter of the National Thespian Society acted its way through the 1954-55 school year with drama productions, demonstrations, competitions, and conventions. They sponsored an All-School Play, operated a theatrical makeup both at the Family Frolic, and participated in the city-wide Drama Festival. Members also were active in the senior play.

The officers for the past year were Phoebe Senour, president; Warren Davis, vice president; Sandy Middleton, secretary; Roger Butler, treasurer; Betty Ann Copeland, point secretary; and Marjory Weston, historian. Miss Eleanor Dee Theek is the club's sponsor.

FOOTLIGHTS CLUB

Membership in Footlights is open to anyone interested in dramatics and the various phases of amateur theater production. It was organized a few years ago to help students obtain credit for membership in the National Thespian Society. Many members who joined Footlights before their acceptance in Thespian have remained active Footlights members.

This year's president, Warren Davis, is active in both clubs. His experience helps him to guide the other officers, Barbara Freeland, vice president; Kenneth Lyman, secretary; Eleanor Meredith, treasurer; and Susie Fristoe, historian. The sponsor of this year's group is Mrs. Patricia Johnson.

FOOTLIGHTS CLUB (roster)—Georgiana Adams, Dave Anderson, Carolyn Bechert, Beverly Boesinger, Carolyn Brooks, Darlene Brown, Linda Bivins, Monita Butler, Sarah Campbell, Barbara Canatsey, Nancy Clark, Harry Crull, Warren Davis, Judy Earl, Bob Engle, Pat Facciuto, Sandye Ford, Renee Fox, Darlene Frantz, Barbara Freeland, Susie Fristoe, Tom Green, Ann Grosskopf, Adra Helder, Nancy House, Susie Hufford, John Kixmiller, Linda Logan, Kennie Lyman, Linda Marrs, Sharon Maurer, Betty Kay McClellan, Carol Meredith, Eleanor Meredith, Kate Merrill, Jane Metcalf, Wade Meyercord, Judy Moneyhun, Sally Newton, Sue Osborne, Myrna Parker, Linda Phillips, Bonnie Rabe, Alice Roberts, Mary Jo Ronk, David Rude, Sara Samson, Jane Seastrom, Virginia Sims, Penny Sprague, Mary Lou Stark, Gloria Swartz, Sandy Thatcher, Karen Turner, Joyce VanMeter, Donna White, JoAnn Yates, Gary Zeck.

Ken Milam, Bev Adams, and Bob Scherb enact a scene from "Just Minuet".

SHS Dramatists Keep a Busy Calendar

The Grace Kellys and Marlon Brandos of Shortridge had a very busy theatrical season. From September to June our dramatists were busy spreading the fame of their accomplishments throughout Indiana.

Three members of the National Thespian Society, Beverly Adams, Ken Milam, and Bob Scherb, emoted in the city-wide Drama Festival, "Just Minuet," a play dealing with the eternal triangle.

The gay pigments of grease paint were artistically splattered by National Thespian Society members at a booth at the Family Frolic. Watchers were astounded by the number of combinations and expressions possible when an expert make-up crew blended bright blues, corals, greens, and pinks.

Betty Copeland gives Mary Ann Bleecker a "new face".

Row 4: Dolores DeRosa, Terry Magaro, Marcy Webb, Virginia Blackmon, Judy Carpenter, Brenda Gerking, Barbara Reed, Jackie Rawlings.

GIRLS' ROTC

Being the first girls' platoon to march in an Indianapolis parade when they participated in a city-wide Armed Forces Day parade was the outstanding accomplishment of the newly formed Girls' ROTC unit of Shortridge High School.

The girls, led by their officers who were selected by competitive examinations, drill frequently.

Their officers are 1st-Sgt. Joyce Anderson, SFC JoAnn Anderson, Marcy Webb, Susan Baker, Verlane Bratton, Jane Mess, Sally Sparks; and Sgts. Marie Dun, Pat McClary, Judy Earl, and Patsy Carter.

Miss Mary Glenn Hamilton organized and sponsors this active group.

ROTC Lays Foundation for Good Citizenship

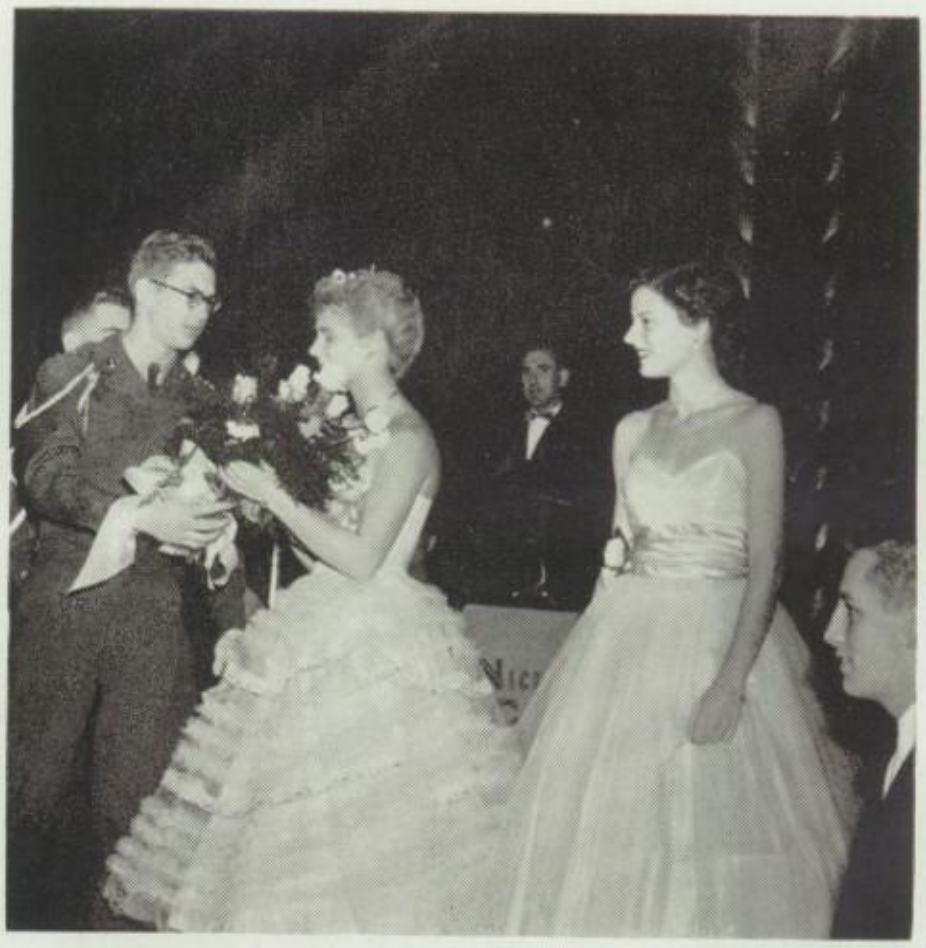
Under the soft music, beautiful atmosphere, fleecy clouds, and twinkling lights of the Indiana Roof, the first ROTC ball held away from school in the history of the school was put over with a bang.

"Our purpose is to lay the foundation for intelligent citizenship and leadership, to give basic military training, and to instill a respect for authority," states M-Sgt. Thomas L. Dawson, who took over control of the unit this year from M-Sgt. Chester F. Senteney, who was transferred to Ft. Benning, Georgia. SFC Marvin L. Roberts is the assistant commandant.

In the spring, Federal Inspection is held with representatives from 5th Army Headquarters in Chicago reviewing the unit and giving awards and honors.

The cadets learn in their classes the fundamentals of hygiene, first aid, weapons, military courtesy, tactics, and physical development. In addition a rifle team and a newly organized drill team function. Guard details are present at all school functions.

Four Shortridge girls serve as ROTC sponsors, marching in parades and conducting weekly inspection of the cadet corps.



Jane Mess is crowned queen of annual Military Ball.

Shortridge Band and Orchestra

The band without a doubt rates as Shortridge's busiest organization. Just look at all the activities it enters: plays at all Shortridge home athletic events where it is the number one pep producer, gives an auditorium each semester, holds an annual Sweatermen's Concert, performs at the annual R.O.T.C. Federal Inspection, takes part in many civic parades, enters the State Marching Contest in the fall, the Organization Contest in April, and the Solo Ensemble Contest in February, and performs at various private functions. In addition, various parts of the band, such as the brass ensemble and woodwind ensemble, play on numerous occasions.

The director is James Calvert. Officers of the band are Dan Beard, captain; George Jackson, 1st lieutenant and drum major; and Hugh Haney, 2nd lieutenant. A "B" band serves the regular band in a training ground capacity, and, as a result, competition was keener than ever this year. Through the band, the student is trained in citizenship and responsibility, besides receiving a wonderful background in musical knowledge and performing ability.

The band awards sweaters to seniors completing six or more semesters' work in the band.

Social occasions included a reception and dance after the Sweatermen's Concert and a spring picnic.

Add a Musical Note to Our Planets

The orchestra, Shortridge's oldest musical group, moved along at its usual busy clip this year under the direction of Will F. Wise.

Ruth Knight, concert mistress; Carolyn Strauss, principal cellist; and Adele Clerkin, pianist, performed at many community programs throughout the year as the Shortridge Trio. They also made transcriptions for WIAN-FM.

The orchestra as a whole participated in the District Music Festival, State Orchestra Contest, the traditional Commencement Exercises, and played for several school events and auditoriums.

Several outstanding members were selected to play in the All-State Orchestra for the State Teachers' Convention.

The Orchestra annually awards gold pins to members serving three years, and silver pins for two years' service. Renewing a tradition started last year, a gold medal was awarded to three-year members of the Trio and a silver medal to two-year members.

Orchestra principles include Ruth Knight, Fay Brownlee, Rosemary Clauson, Carolyn Strauss, Betty Williams, and Dale Aldridge, librarian.

"Music is the universal language." Shortridge choral groups believe this true, and under the direction of Don Martin, they travel about the state proving it for many varied organizations.

"And we shall have music wherever we go" could be said of the Shortridge Madrigal Singers who are composed of eight girls and eight boys singing music written in the old English style without accompaniment. The Madrigal Singers entertain not only Shortridgers but people all over the state. The members are chosen by audition.

"What wouldst thou have? A song!" is the reply of the A Cappella Choir. This mixed chorus performs for Shortridge dressed in blue and white choir robes. Admission to this choir is by audition only.

"On wings of song uplifting," the Girls' Concert Choir sings. The girls this year had new blue skirts and blouses for their singing appearances. Auditions are also necessary for this organization.

"Lift every voice," is the idea of the training choir. This mixed choir teaches the basic fundamentals of group singing and prepares the members for work in the more advanced choral groups. Any interested Shortridgers may sign up for this course.

Cheerleaders Lead Fans, A Vital Planetary Element

Take a large amount of fire, even more school spirit, willingness to work, determination, and a pinch of patience and you have the formula for one of the sports planet's most important groups — the cheerleaders. This hardworking crew — Linda Gaskins, Ken Milam, Darrell Miles, Pat Nevitt, Nancy Richwine, and Linda Lowe, head cheerleader, is responsible for coordinating, rehearsing, and directing boosters at all varsity games.

Reserve cheerleaders who take turns in leading fans at the reserve contests, include Jean Edmond, Carolyn Littleton, Marylyn Littleton, Deanna Woods, Susie Smith, Alison Universaw, JoAnn Pleak, Sharon Wilson, Peggy Perry, Jane Thomas, and Sharon Petty.

Galemen Finish 5-3-1 in First Season Under Lights

"When the lights go on all over again." On the evening of September 24, 1954, Shortridge dedicated her new field lights, bleachers, and electric scoreboard in a 20-minute ceremony between halves of the Blue Devil-Washington tilt.

During the ceremony, Roy M. Price, president of the Shortridge athletic development fund; Joel W. Hadley, principal; and Jim Batman, president of the class of '54, all spoke in honor of the newly renovated field.

Despite the fact that the city championship could not be had, it was a successful season, with the squad winning five, losing three, and tying one. Coach George Gale, assisted by Bob King, again held the reins of a team that had everything but size. In almost every game, the Blue line was outweighed between five and ten pounds per man.

But that old stuff called team spirit, fight, or what-have-you prevailed, and the team made up for their handicap.

Dads turn on the lights—Dr. Herman L. Shibler, Principal Hadley, Roy Price, Mayor Clark, Robert Nipper, and Wilbur Barnhart take part in dedication ceremonies.

Row 4: Dick Loman, Charles Culver, Clarence Baker, Dick Griner, Hobby Wilson, Ron Sherbert, Don Hicks, Don Wiles.

Spraetz drives through.

Get that ball, Branham!

The team opened their '54 season with a 13-6 road decision over a tough Richmond club. Moe Silverman's recovery of a Red Devil fumble and Kenny Spraetz' recovery of a blocked kick set up both Shortridge touchdowns.

On the following day, the third annual football Jamboree was held at Butler Bowl. Broad Ripple and Shortridge tangled in the first "quarter" which the Satans won, 13-0.

The Galemen played their only day game at Ft. Wayne against the South Side Archers, and found it to their liking. They came back with a 42-13 verdict, after being down by 7-0 after the first period. Bob Fesler was outstanding in the victory, garnering a trio of 6-pointers.

The Satans were up! The following week they began their city schedule against another powerhouse, Washington. City sportswriters called this one the "Game of the Year," as the teams fought to a 19-19 deadlock before an overflow crowd of 5,000.

Shortridge found her hopes of an undefeated season dashed aside by New Albany's Bulldogs, 14-7, following the Washington contest. Air power played a big part in this game, with the combination of Branham to Spraetz clicking more than once.

Cathedral's city champs, supported by a giant line, pushed the 'Devils all over the place, and came out 13-6 winners as the home Satans found themselves in the middle of a two-game losing streak under the new lights. The only Blue TD came as a result of a seven-yard pass from Branham to end Pat McConahay.

Crispus Attucks' hapless Tigers were the victims of a win-hungry Satan eleven that grounded out a 27-6 win on a cold and sloppy field.

The Blue boys went out to Tech and came home on the top end of a 13-12 score. This was the first time since 1949 that the Big Green has fallen before the Satans. Steve Wright scored both goals with Fesler adding the winning PAT.

Shortridge, preparing for its last game against Ripple, completely outclassed a winless Manual club, 32-6, after leading, 26-0, at halftime.

The traditional Ripple-Shortridge tussle for the supremacy of the northside once more provided good entertainment for everyone but the Blue Devil rooters as they watched their team pushed around to the tune of 25-19.

Trophies went to Moe Silverman for toughman; Evan Steger, sportsmanship; Frank Skinner, most improved lineman; Steve Wright, most improved back; and Ken Spraetz, most valuable player. Co-captains were Bob Fesler and Bob Branham.

McConahay stretches.

RESERVE FOOTBALL

An outstanding group of sophomores, supplemented by some good juniors, moved Coach William Amthor through to a successful season with his reserve gridders.

The team marked up a record of three games won as opposed to only one setback. They won from Washington, Warren Central, and Tech; but lost to a good Cathedral club.

A game with Broad Ripple was scheduled, but the weatherman interfered, and it had to be canceled.

This was Amthor's third season as head of the reserves, where he has compiled an all-time won-lost record of 11-5 for a percentage of .688.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

"They worked hard, even practiced in the rain a couple of days. . . . They were a good group."

These were the words Coach Cleon Reynolds used to praise his fine squad of freshmen. Reynolds has compiled a 15-3-4 record.

His '54 team was victorious in two games, loser of one, and tied by Washington in a grueling 0-0 deadlock, the opening game of the season. Following that tie, they won decisive victories over Cathedral and Warren Central, and finished the season with a loss to Tech's perennial great squad.

Lloyd Ashman and Dick Klapper were the team's standouts and jointly received the Most Valuable Freshman Award.

Jimmy Hill's fourth place performance, coupled with the superb all-around running of his teammates, earned the 1954 State Cross-Country Championship for Shortridge's Bluemen for the second year in a row.

The 1954 hill-and-dalers were a well-balanced team, made up of one freshman, one sophomore, three juniors, and two seniors.

They were the losers of just one meet, the Shortridge Invitational, in which they captured runnerup position to Vincennes.

Only three dual meets were scheduled with Shortridge taking the trio. They won 28-29 over Muncie Central, 21-38 over Anderson, and 21-37 over Washington. The Howe Invitational, Old Post Run, Broad Ripple Quadrangular, and a three-way affair involving Crispus Attucks and Bloomington were also Haynes' victories.

Satans Knock on Championship's Door

Under the leadership of coach Cleon Reynolds and his assistant, Robert King, the Shortridge Blue Devils posted their finest season in many years and came within one quarter of a game of winning their first sectional crown since 1935.

After downing Decatur Central, Ben Davis, and Broad Ripple on successive days, the classy Satans convinced Tech for the third time (a rare feat in itself) and moved into the heart-breaking final game of the sectionals against Attucks. A couple of errors which might have thrown the game either way turned the tide in the fourth quarter to the eventual state champions, Attucks.

Highlighted by three wins in one year from the Technical Greenclads and a double overtime, sudden-death loss to Attucks in the city tournament, the Satan season record speaks for itself.

Although the 17-8 1954-55 season record was the best in many years, it did not do the basketballers justice. Shortridge had one of its finest teams this year; they had plenty of speed, height, good ball handling, good shooting ability, and a tough defense.

The Satans were led throughout the season by their co-captains, Jim Loer and Frank Mead, who also unanimously won all city honors. Along with being selected as the Underwood Trophy winners, they led the SHS scoring, together dumping in 626 points, Frank getting 317 and Jim hitting for 309. They had substantial help in this department from Herschell Turner, John Hollett, playmaker and second leading rebounder, along with sparkplug Bob Williams completing one of the state's finest quintets. Although injuries plagued the team during the latter part of the season, the Satans were not weakened because of their terrific strength. Many times Bob Branham, Doug Robinson, Pat McConahay, Don Screes, Bob Perry, and Ed Hurt stepped in and did a fine job when the chips were down.

Up, up and away!

Statistics-wise, the Blue Devils traveled at 56.2 points per game clip, while their opponents averaged 48.8 per game, leaving a winning margin of 7.4 per game. Although the basketballers had their cold nights, they hit the nets for a pretty good clip with a .372 shooting average for the season. However, their opponents showed a respectable shooting eye, hitting a .358 average.

What next year's team lacks in height, they surely will make up in class and speed. Graduation losses will hit hard next year, but coach Cleon Reynolds will have four experienced boys returning, three of whom are lettermen. Heading the list are Herschell Turner, who won honorable mention all-city and sectional honors, and his team-mates Bob Williams, Doug Robinson, and Ed Hurt.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The combination of Jack Mead, Bill Henry, Bill Boatman, Bill Vance, and Marshall Terrell, which coach William Amthor used in his 1954-55 assault on the city and county's best frosh basketball crews, could possibly be the one that will threaten the 1958 sectional title.

For with these boys and several other worthy subs the Shortridge freshmen made a good showing during the past year. In a season that was hot and could, the Imps, after an unsteady start, build up for the first Tech game by dumping Broad Ripple, 48-36; Howe, 34-25; Cathedral, 33-31; and Washington, 42-29. But then it happened. In a sudden death overtime, the valiant Satan frosh, shooting .379 from the field, didn't have quite enough as Tech won, 32-30.

The freshmen couldn't quite get started after that game, and they lost three games.

RESERVE BASKETBALL

Shortridge, .288; opponents, .291. . . . The close shooting percentages tell the story of the Reserve basketball season. . . . The Satan B's had a slow start and didn't hit the win column until the end of January when they dumped in 15 field goals to win from Lebanon, 40-27. From there it was a touch-and-go season with several wins boosting the record considerably.

This year marked the first time that Coach Robert King has had a losing season, and the burst of success at the end of the season made the building year profitable.

Tom Reilly won the Underwood trophy for the most valuable reserve player. He boasted a .314 shooting average on field goals and dumped in .704 in the free throw department.

His team mates, George Jenkins, Dave Shaw, and Mike Haffner, were consistent scorers.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL — Row 1: Bill Vance, Jerry Udell, Marco Bleeker, Rex Jeffries, Tom Culver, Dick Klapper, Lloyd Ashman. Three Grapplers Bring Home State Honors

Shortridge's powerful wrestlers took the county by storm this year and finished by turning the state meet into a gold medal madhouse, as the grapplers walked off with three individual first places (more than even state champ Southport could manage). Frank Anderson, Jim Hill, and Dave Jeter led the Satans to a fourth place finish by copping gold medals in the 133, 115, and 165-pound classes respectively. Dave Babcock at 120 and Dick Denney at 154 pounds aided the Blue.

The Blue and White finished third in the Muncie sectional as all three state champs-to-be garnered firsts in their weights. Babcock and Denney took second places and 106-pound Garnet Landers showed after four straight winning matches. Other outstanding Satans who proved the best at their weight and competed in the sectional were Fritz Gordner, Arthur Jay, Richard Myers, Carl Ritter, Bob Scott, and Robert Woodard.

The grapplers produced one county champ (Anderson), and one runner-up (Hill) on their way to a fifth place among Marion Matters. In all, it was a season which showed the wrestlers' final placing pulled down from state champ heights by a decided lack of depth. While one strong competitor could usually be found for most weights, the Satans found themselves forced to wrestle lighter boys out of their normal positions to complete a card.

In the county standings, the frosh finished second with an individual champ heavyweight, Bob Turner, as Townsend's 98-pound first led the reserves to a fourth place finish.

Maxey hurdles.

Led by Coach Roy Aberson with the able assistance of Harold Negley and Tom Haynes, Captain Jim Batman and the 1954 cindermen brought home the city championship for the third straight year. This time Shortridge compiled a total of 68½ points compared to Tech's 60. North-side rival Broad Ripple finished third with 32 points.

Hobby Wilson came through with a dual victory, winning first in the 100 and first in the 220, helping to bring Shortridge a great victory of 54 points in the Sectionals. This score almost doubled the total points of their nearest competitors.

In the Hoosier Relays the Shortridge Blue Devils came through with three first places.

In the Regionals Mal McClerkin won the mile, Jim Loer copped the high jump and the 880-yard relay team of Hobby Wilson, Jim Batman, Bob Maxey and Bob Allen won, posting the second fastest time in the State.

The team score amassed was enough to push Shortridge into second place.

In the State meet the cindermen placed 14th.

Jim Batman, Malvin McClerkin, and Bob Maxey were recipients of the James Bayard Smith awards.

RESERVE TRACK

Combining the talents mostly of sophomores, the reserve track team ran through a very successful season. The squad achieved victory at Columbus and was scheduled in many meets around the city. Under the watchful eyes and direction of the three track coaches, Aberson, Haynes, and Negley, they practiced feverishly right along with the varsity, preparing to become next year's first team.

Many of the sophomores showed promise, and among them are Richard Griner, half-mile; Melvyn Goldstein, and Chuck Culver, hurdles; George Praed, mile; and Clarence Baker, broad jump.

FRESHMAN TRACK

The 1954 freshman track team placed third in the city meet behind a powerful Tech squad and a good Manual team at the east-siders' oval. The Rhinies failed to win any events, but seconds, thirds, and fourths kept them in the meet.

The thinlies made up for the "no firsts" act at the city meet by running away with a win in every event at the meet with the Harry Wood school.

Tracksters who show great promise for victories for Shortridge in the years to come are Studor in the mile run, and Green, the recipient of the Don R. Knight award for the most outstanding freshman trackster, 100 and 220-yard dashman.

"Give us Best and Mead, then Best again,
And finally about three days of rain."

This very unconventional rhyme explains in miniature the fortunes of the 1953 Shortridge baseballers.

With a maximum of hitting and fielding, and a minimum of pitching, Coach Jerry Steiner nursed his charges through to a city tournament championship, helped by the weatherman who supplied enough rain to rest star pitcher Jack Best, who received the Julius trophy.

Their season's record stood at 12 won and seven lost.

The Blue Devils defeated a strong Broad Ripple team, rated by many as the best in the city, during the regular season and again in the final game of the tournament, 3-1.

Their victory in the tourney was due in a large part to the fact that they had six lettermen on the starting nine. They were led by their very capable captain-pitcher, Jack Best and shortstop Dave Hedges. Other lettermen who helped to make the season a successful one were Don Screes at second base, Pat Genovese in left field Jerry Thompson, pitcher and outfielder, and Tom Gill, the third baseman.

Pitcher Jack Best leads city champs from scene of their victory.

TENNIS—Ralph Levitt, manager; Fred Dorman, Mike Phillips, Gary Fisher, Jerry Larner, Roger Roby, John Hollett, Coach H. H. Siemers.

1954 Siemersmen Repeat City Victory

The Shortridge tennis team of 1954 swept triumphantly through the city tournament, repeating the victory of the previous year.

The Siemersmen put three men in the first four places when the final results were compiled. Top man in the city was Jerry Larner, who bested John Hollett in the final game. Hollett played number one man on the team all during the regular season, while Larner was number three.

Also placing in the tournament was Roger Roby, who copped fourth place, duplicating last year's feat. One lone Broad Ripple man sneaked into the final four. In the point department Shortridge more than doubled the best production of its nearest competitor, Cathedral. The score was 86 for the Blue and 35 for the Irish.

The team's success in the tournament provided a proper ending for a successful regular season. Head Coach H. H. Siemers, in his fifth year at that post, led the Satans to an impressive five won and two lost record. The two defeats came at the hands of a very strong Danville (Illinois) squad, one at Danville and the other at the Devils' home courts at the Riviera Club.

Hollett, Larner and Roby received letters for their efforts during the spring season.

State Laurels Slip From Satans' Grasp by One Point

GOLF—Dan Burton, Fred Dyar, Ross Griffith, Bob Laycock, Barry Cartmell, Don Ersig, Tom Black, Bob Lipp, Don Fiege, Mark Wheeler, Jim Brucker, Dave Balch, Tip Blish, Coach Kenneth Peterman.

Don Essig, Satan sharpshooter.

The Shortridge linksmen felt victory and then despair during the 1954 season as they tied Crawfordsville during the regular season, tied them again at the sectionals, then had to accept defeat by one slim stroke from the sure-shooting Athenians in the state tournament. The final score of the meet was 310 for the Athenians to 311 for the Blue Devil Teesters.

The championship slipped from their grasp at the Coffin golf course, the scene of many Shortridge golf meets.

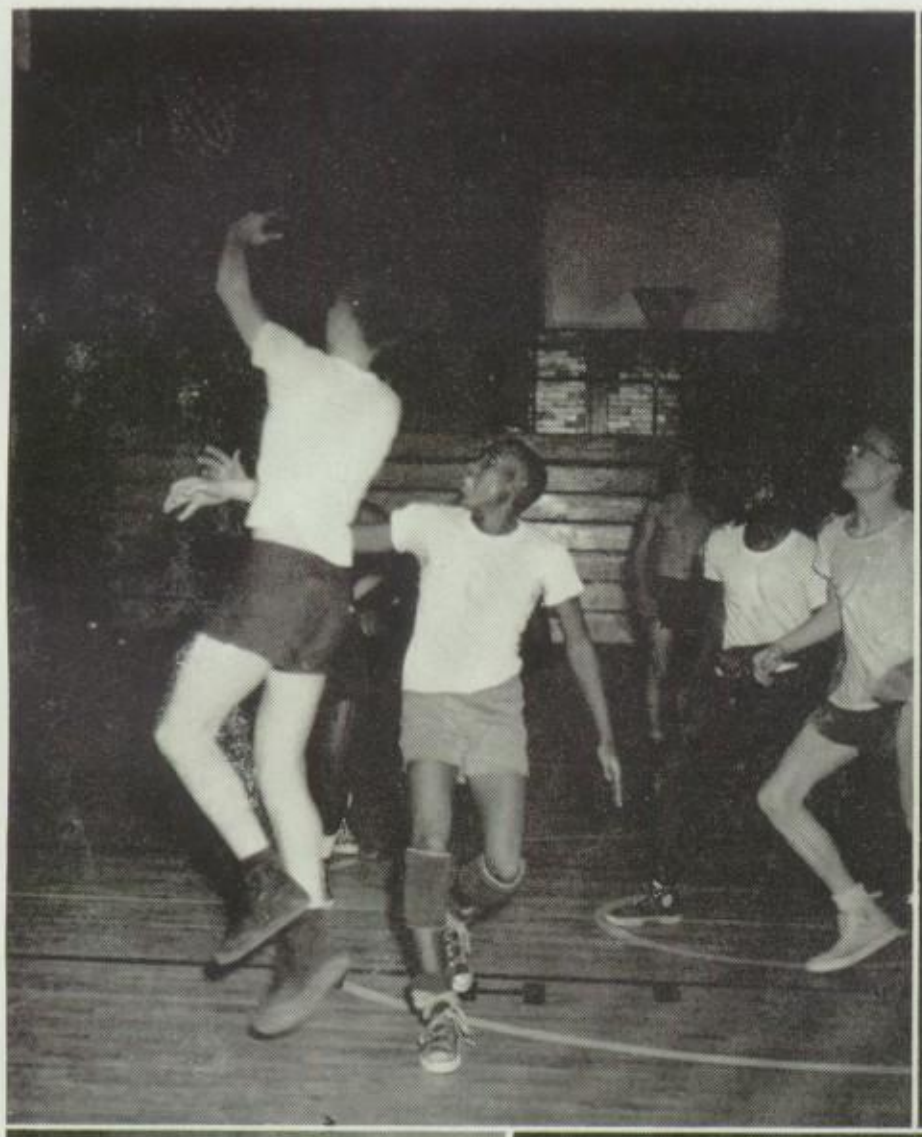
The Shortridge golfers suffered an added loss this year in the resignation of their coach, Kenneth Peterman. He has led them to many victories in the past and his inspired guidance is sure to be missed in the years to come.

Sophomore Don Essig, and Senior Ross Griffith were key men in many of this season's matches.

Bob Laycock, Tom Black, Tip Blish, Barry Cartmell, Mark Wheeler and Dave Balch, all capable linksmen, added their assistance to the cause.

Essig, Griffith, and Laycock received letters for their efforts.

In the fall, returning teesters, under Coach Robert Hirstein, copped first place in the Marion County Golf Tourney.



Intramurals Offer Fun For All

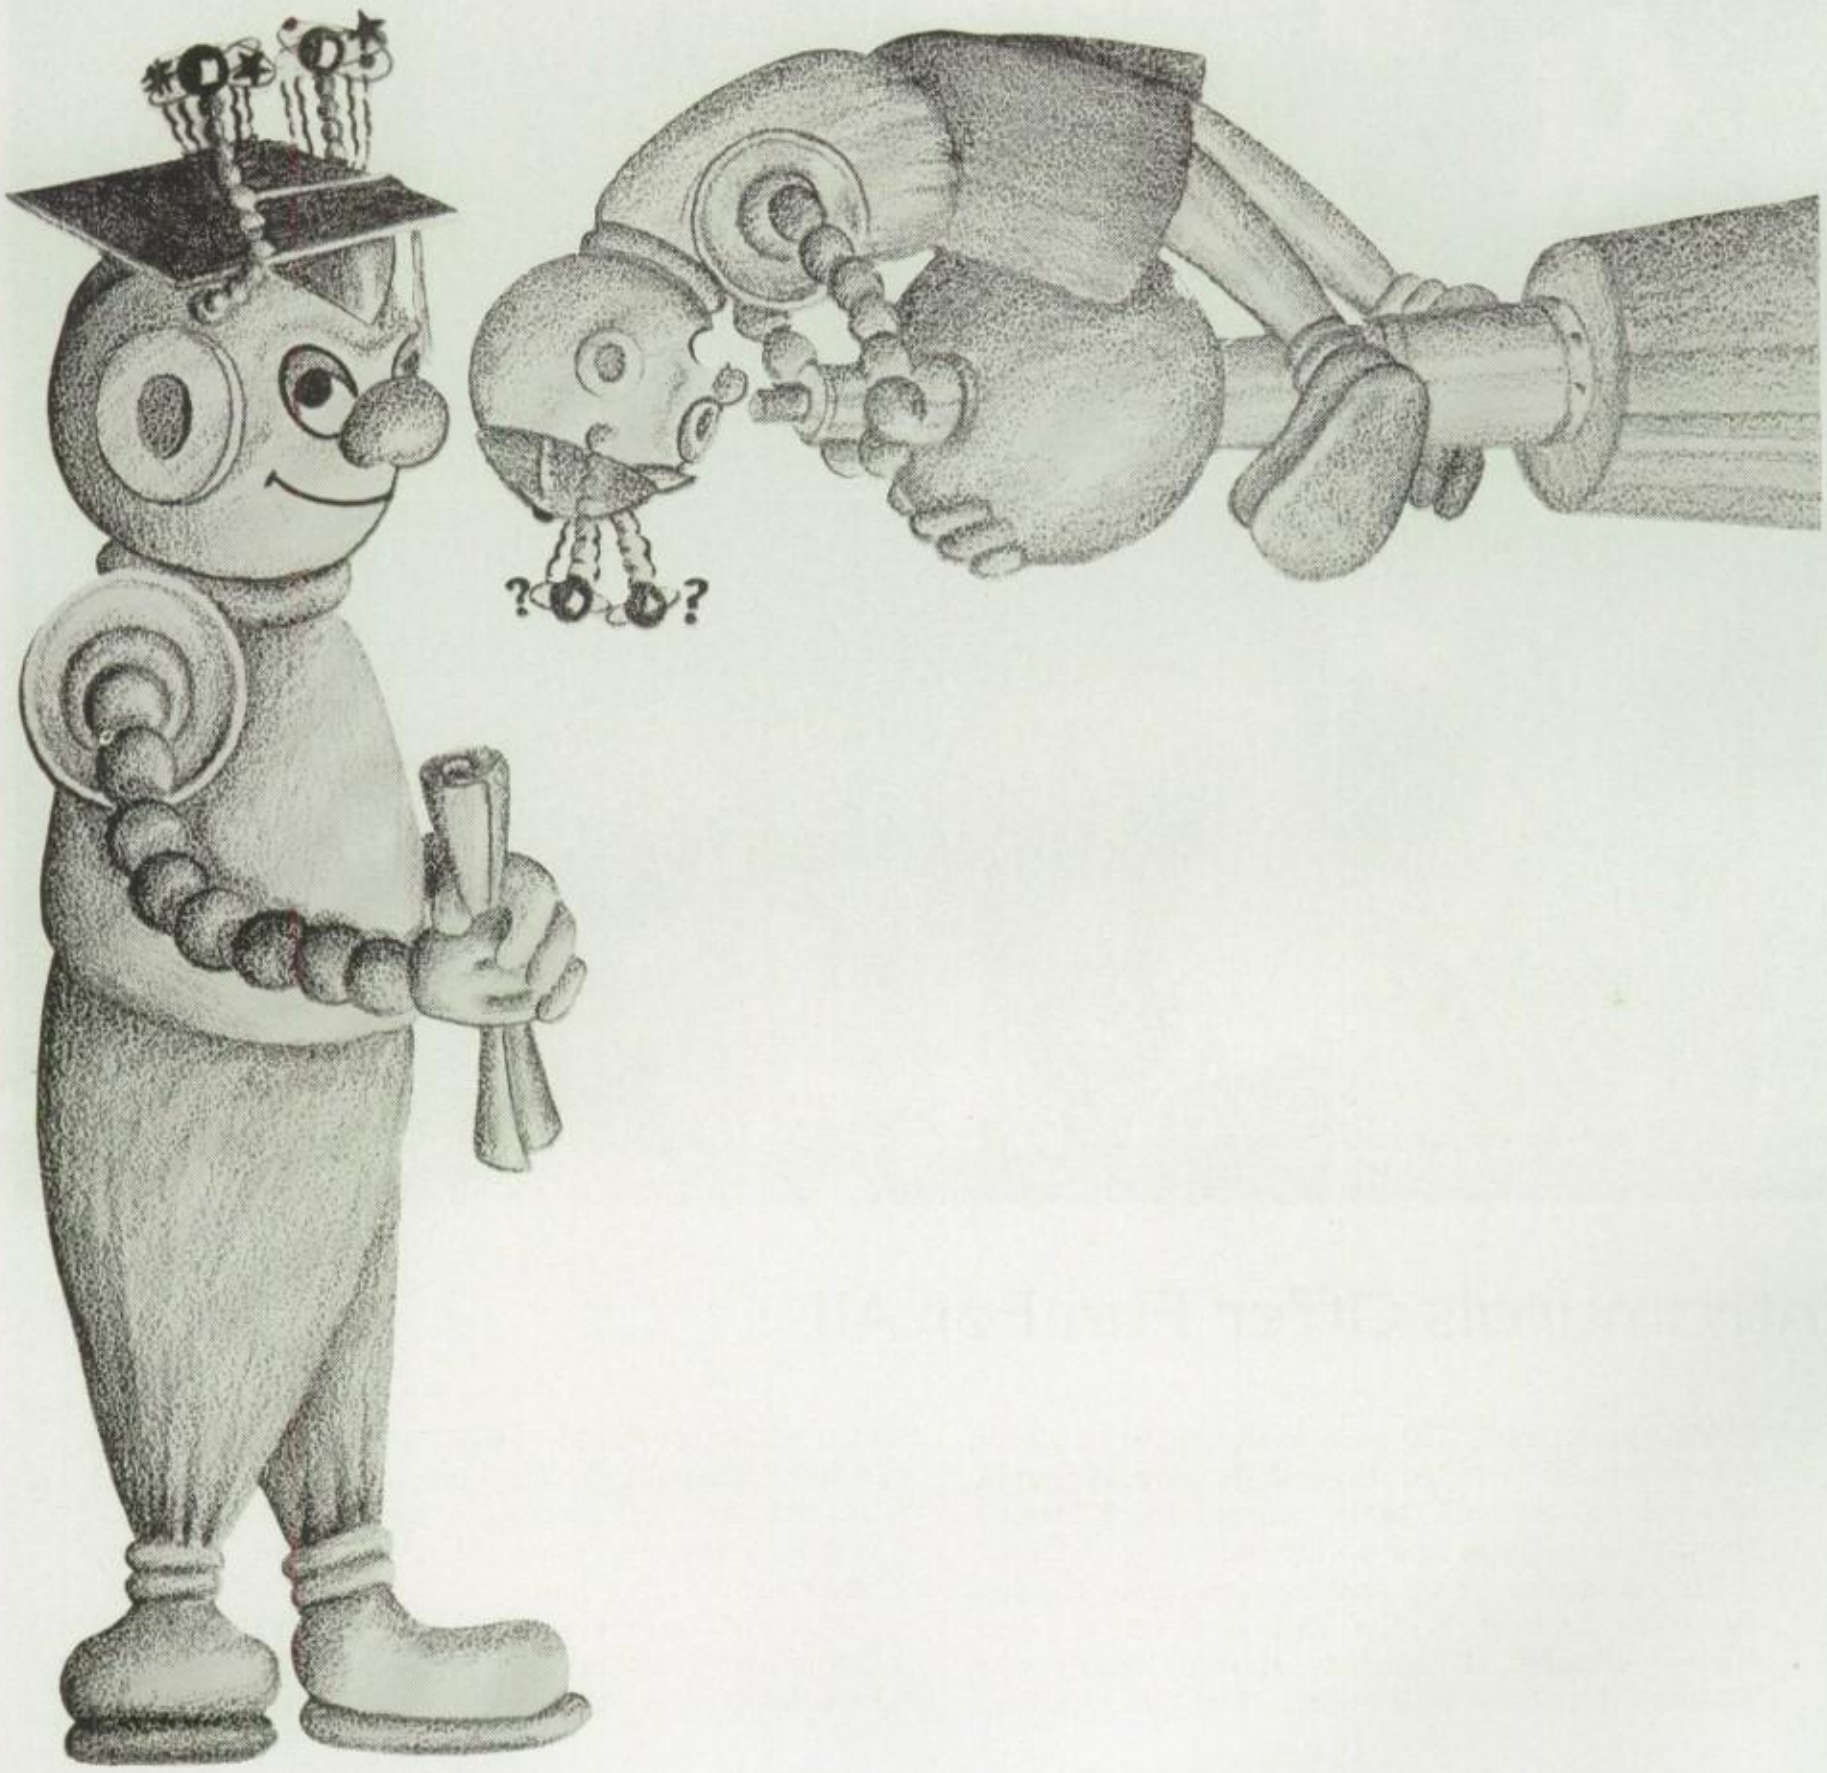
This year nearly 700 boys participated in eleven sports which included basketball, bowling, golf, horseshoes, softball, table tennis, track, touch football, wrestling, and volley ball.

The program, as in past seasons, was headed by Jerry Steiner in the fall and winter, and George Gale in the spring. Harold Negley and Thomas Harding were other faculty members who assisted with the boys' intramural activities.

Mrs. Mary Treichler and Miss Caryl Gaines headed the girls' program, which included basketball, bowling, deck tennis, soccer, softball, track, and volley ball.

The girls met every Monday and Friday, and being just a little trite, "A good time was had by all."

Frosh and Seniors Alike Promote Class Activities



Frosh are perplexed with form 23's.

Frosh Find High School Life New And Exciting

We may tease them today, but tomorrow they'll be the school leaders. Who? The freshmen, of course! They may not realize it, while they're lost in the vast halls of Shortridge buying tickets to the elevator and madly searching for the non-existent swimming pool, but they'll learn—soon.

Every day is filled with new experiences, new friends, and new discoveries. The freshman convocation and the planning of four-year programs come early on their agenda; and they have their own activities—freshman athletics, Booster club, and the talent show—to keep them busy, in addition to all-school functions. Their first senior play, Vaudeville, and commencement are events they'll never forget; and though they dream of the years ahead, they'll always remember the thrills of their freshman year. We may tease them, but what would we do without them? Who would admire the upperclassmen? Who would replace the varsity? Long live the freshmen!

Sloppy Day fun.

Sophs Study Vocations, Enjoy Annual 'Sloppy Day'

Suddenly, after only three months of rest, the freshmen become sophomores, seasoned veterans with a year of solid experience behind them. No longer are they Shortridge's babies, with the shelter of youth to protect them. Now they must release the apron strings of freshmanhood and forge ahead for themselves, find their individual interests, and begin to develop their talents. Then, too, they have that terrible name which means "wise fool" to live down.

The first hurdle sophomores face is their initial term paper: the vocational theme. They attend vocational conferences and lectures, make a final decision—then write, write, and rewrite. Having accomplished this feat, they've taken a big step toward the assumption of greater responsibilities. The sophomores struggle through the intricacies of geometry and pursue bugs, birds, and falling leaves through mud and morning mist in the interests of science, along with playing a larger part in school activities. Throughout the year they become wiser and less foolish, until they are prepared to attain the exalted state of upperclassmanship.

Juniors Keep Busy With Annual Activities

"Upperclassmen at last!" was the glad cry of those who found themselves past the halfway mark in their lives at Shortridge. For the first time they organized as a class under the guidance of Mrs. Nell Merrick Thomas, sponsor, and Don R. Knight, financial adviser. Doug Robinson, president; Jody Foster, vice president; Virginia Cooling, secretary; Tom Wilson, treasurer; Marjorie King, Vaudeville chairman; and Susie Welsh, program editor, were elected to lead the juniors in class affairs.

Acts were selected for the Vaudeville, Prom preparations began, and the selection of class jewelry brought thoughts of seniority.

33rd Vaudeville Features Five Variety Acts

One of the red-letter occasions on every Shortridger's calendar was the thirty-third annual Junior Vaudeville, proudly staged by the Class of 1956 on February 3, 4, and 5. Vaudeville chairman Marjorie King directed the show, and Susie Welsh edited the program. Five acts, chosen in November from a large selection of cut entries, comprised the main part of the Vaudeville.

"Bugaboo," written by Wendy Adams, Mary Lou Buhr, and Keren Call, was the first act to take the stage. This insect fantasy featured a determined naturalist who discovered everything from fireflies and dainty ladybugs to menacing cockroaches and—of all things—a lovebug!

Nancy Otto, Peggy Perry, and Sue Woodfill were co-authors of "Calendar Capers," which depicted the progression of a year from babyhood to death. Highlighted in this saga were spring, Independence Day, September school days, Halloween, and Christmas in Santa's workshop.

Pirates voyaged in search of hidden treasure in "The Jolly Roger," next on the program. Nancy Leffel, Joanne Pleak, and Susie Stuart captained their ship of buccaneers over the cardboard seas in a rollicking quest for the booty.

Various types of transportation were featured in the fourth act, "Travel Trend." Cynthia Beadell, Judi McFarland, Janet Schuman, and Judy Troyer directed the history of conveyances.

Even a magic brew must change throughout the years, found the magician Music in "Rendezvous with Rhythm," the Vaudeville's finale, as he mixed his potion from the herbs of primitive chants, stirred a waltz into the bubbling cauldron, added a can-can for spice, and finished with a frenzied stew of modern jazz. This tuneful presentation was written by Susan Powell, Suzanne Wallace, and Marjorie Weston.

Marjorie King, Vaudeville chairman.

Five intermission acts entertained the audience between curtains—vocalists Gloria Reeves and Willie Givens and pianist Janet Rubenking gave solo performances; Judy and Roberta Cook, a pantomime, and Jane and Bob Mess presented a comic skit.

Junior, Senior Officers Coordinate Class Events

On September 29, 1954, the third meeting of the senior class was presided over by President Ronny Smith who was elected on September 22, 1954. Other officers elected to assist him were Jody Smith, vice president; Bob Perry, treasurer; Jo Ann Woodfill, secretary. Sally Mitten had been elected Annual editor the previous spring.

The Senior Council, consisting of six representatives from each of the four senior homerooms and the five class officers, acted as the governing body of the senior class under the able guidance of Miss Dorothy Peterson.

The ribbon committee met and selected wine and light blue as the colors for our senior ribbons. Ribbon Day was November 3; all seniors who had paid dues received their class colors.

"Mother Is a Freshman!" was the title of the successful senior play. Presented on November 6, 1954, this popular comedy was directed by Miss Eleanor D. Theek.

Santa Claus, impersonated by fun-loving Roy Aberson, brought merry-making and amusing gifts to the seniors at our annual Christmas party. A toy was the admission to this event held on December 14, 1954.

Mei Chen and Bob Perry were elected by the entire student body to reign over Bluebelle-Ugly-man dance, February 11, 1955.

One of the highlights of the spring was the annual girl-take-boy senior dance held April 30. It featured a "Frontier Fling" theme and the crowning of "Davy Crockett."

Class Day officers Mei Chen, historian; Dede Dailey, prophet; Ken Milam, willmaker; and Bob Shaw, giftorian, were elected to serve on Class Day, June 2.

The last day of school for seniors was June 3; Vespers were held Sunday, June 5.

Commencement exercises were held on the evening of June 8 in the Coliseum.

Respectfully submitted,
Jo Ann Woodfill
Secretary, Class of 1955

Class Day Fun Rounds Out Our Senior Year

When the seniors assembled in Caleb Mills Hall on June 2 for Class Day, one of their last activities as a group, they found the clock turned back.

A Roman forum, decorated by four shaky statues in classical poses, greeted the audience. Two tourists, Judy Black and Steve Close, wandered into the forum on a sightseeing spree—and suddenly a statue which strangely resembled Mei Chen awoke and began to deliver the history of the Class of 1955!

One by one the other figures stirred and addressed the assembly. Ken Milam read the class will, and Bob Shaw distributed timely gifts. The puzzled sightseers, under the impression that "all roads lead to Rome," rearranged their views considerably as the unusual drama unfolded. Then Dede Dailey rose on her pedestal to prophesy strange happenings in the seniors' futures, and the old saying changed.

"All roads lead to ———?"

Miss Peterson, Council Make Senior Decisions

Miss Dorothy Peterson, senior sponsor

The "congress" of the Shortridge senior class is the Senior Council, the representative body which makes major class decisions. The five senior officers—Ronny Smith, president; Jody Smith, vice president; Bob Perry, treasurer; Jo Ann Woodfill, secretary; and Sally Mitten, Annual editor—together with three girls and an equal number of boys elected by each of the four senior homerooms according to custom, constituted the Council's membership of twenty-nine.

The group enthusiastically started their work by choosing a class photographer, graduation announcements, and caps and gowns for commencement. Also, they performed the necessary duties of approving the budget and revising the constitution of the class. The Annual dedicatee was selected by the Council; and the interesting task of finding a good use for war bonds left to the school as the gift of the class of 1943 was theirs. In addition, the Council helped in arranging the senior Christmas party, the senior dance, and the commencement exercises.

Behind every decision made by the Senior Council was the invaluable guidance of Miss Dorothy Peterson, the senior sponsor. Miss Peterson's unfailing understanding and enthusiasm have won her the loyalty, respect, and affection of senior classes since she first became senior adviser in 1943, and the class of '55 must attribute much of its success to her hard work and wise counsel.

Annual Staff Telescopes this Year's SHS Story

Sara Mitten, Annual editor.

Sara Mitten was elected 1955 Annual editor by the class in the spring of 1954. In preparation for her job, Sara spent two weeks at the Indiana High School Journalism Institute learning new ideas from other annual editors as well as from her teachers. Sara began her year by preparing a "dummy" Annual and choosing her committees.

Scheduling senior picture sittings at Dexheimer-Carlon Studios was the task of Alice Campbell and Jo Ann Woodfill. Judy Black, Marilyn Keesling, and Sue Strickland arranged when the members' pictures could be snapped. Warren Davis and Wallace Terry, student photographers, searched for photogenic shots.

The liner staff—Mei Chen, Dick Jack, Martha Raup, and Betsy Turner—collected each senior's list of activities while in SHS. The stargazing literary staff turned their telescopes on every phase of the Shortridge universe. Toni Aberson, Bob Newburn, Sue Tarr, Lucia Walton, and Margie Weston were members of this staff. Covering our planet of sports were Gary Hanna, Pat McConahay, and Howard Rader.

Dale Aldridge as art editor worked in an atmosphere of poster paints and India ink while designing the Annual cover and the sketches on the inside pages. Margo DeMetrovich, secretary, typed Annual copy.

Clustering around these literary stars were the important satellites — the business staffs. Don White and Jim Wood, co-business managers, budgeted the Annual expenses and also promoted Annual sales.

Penny Pearson Elected From 13 to Reign at Prom

Penny Pearson, Prom Queen

It was the evening of May 7, 1954.

The music stopped. Excited couples crowded eagerly together along the sides of a long line down the center of the Indiana Roof dance floor. Bandleader Wayne Luby introduced Gary Hanna, president of the class of 1955, and the long-awaited Junior Prom had reached its zenith.

Thirteen happy queen candidates — Susanne Bartlett, Barbara Brown, Linda Gaskins, Mary Ann Harper, Linda Lowe, Susie Miller, Mary Ochsner, Penny Pearson, Nancy Richwine, Jody Smith, Jane Swanson, Lucia Walton, and Jo Ann Woodfill—were presented and escorted to the spotlighted stage; the crowd whispered among themselves and proud parents looked down from the balcony in anticipation. Then the great ballroom was silent. The moment had arrived. Mary Ochsner and Jody Smith received second- and third-place honors, and the 1954 junior class saw Penny Pearson crowned its queen.

After the applause and murmurs of pleasure had quieted, Penny came down from the stage to lead the grand march. Rows of filmy evening gowns and immaculate dinner jackets circled the floor, met and circled again; dainty slippers and glossy black dress shoes stepped gaily in time to a stately march. The queen and her court danced with their escorts, then with their parents; and the unforgettable Prom continued.

Kenny Milam, Mary Ochsner, Dede Dailey, and Eric Pantzer take leading roles in "Mother Was a Freshman."

Mother's Freshman Antics Draw a Full House

"Mother Was a Freshman." That statement, in itself, doesn't sound unusual, but if you add "when her daughter was a sophomore," it's guaranteed to attract attention. And it did. Under the direction of Miss Eleanor Dee Theek, the three-act comedy was presented to a full house in Caleb Mills Hall on November 6, 1954.

The plot of the play was novel. Mary Ochsner, as Mrs. Abigail Fortitude Abbott, became the oldest freshman ever to attend the college where her daughter Susan, played by Dede Dailey, was a sophomore. Bob Newburn amusingly portrayed Dean Gillingham, who was convinced that Abigail's presence must be a publicity stunt and who did everything in his scholarly power to oust her. Professor Michaels, the handsome zoology instructor who fell in love with the middle-aged freshman, was played by Ken Milam; and Eric Pantzer took the role of Bobo Jackson, the big man on campus and Susan's faithful shadow.

Abigail proved quite a surprise to the Pointer coeds and their swains, who were expecting to see a motherly, gray-haired woman; to the dean, who found that her reason for attending his college was legitimate; and to her daughter, who discovered that her schoolgirl hero was proposing to become her stepfather. The mixups resulting from this unusual situation and the excellent performance of the cast combined to offer a memorable evening of hilarious entertainment.

Time out for a song—Larry Miller, Bruce Hurlbert, and John Burgett add musical touch to senior play.
